TESCO PLEDGE ON £60m CITY STORE

by Daniel Wainwright

TESCO has pledged it is going ahead with building a £60 million flagship supermarket in Wolverhampton despite a big drop in profits. It had warned it would be scaling back expansion as it coped with disappointing sales.

The supermarket giant recently gained planning permission for a new superstore at the Royal Hospital and will provide hundreds of jobs. Bosses this week would still not say when work would start but said they were "100 per cent committed" to the development.

Tesco shares last week fell by £4.3 billion after its first profit warning in 20 years. Sales in the UK fell by 2.3 per cent over Christmas which bosses said was "disappointing".

Last week Tesco chief executive Philip Clarke said the retailer "probably won't be growing the big hypermarket space any more" and added: "We have got them in good locations and more in the pipeline, but that's where you will see an amelioration or a modification."

But Tesco corporate affairs manager Jonathan Simpson said: "We are absolutely committed to the Royal Hospital scheme. It is of huge strategic importance for Tesco in the region.

"It's still too early to say exactly when we will start as we're still putting our development plans together for the next year."

Community

The £60m plans include a 97,000 sq ft Tesco Extra offering a range of food, clothes, electronics and other items with a bakery and a cafe, a petrol station, 600 car parking spaces and offices.

Tesco is also preparing to set aside "community space" to help the All Saints Action Network improve the area around the former hospital.

There is also talk of a museum to commemorate the hospital's history within the plans, which will provide 600 new jobs.

Wolverhampton City Council regeneration chief Councillor Peter Bilson said Mr Simpson's comments offered "reassurance".

He said: "It is great to hear the project is re-affirmed."

Sainsbury's will also build a £65m superstore on Raglan Street near Chapel Ash.

The two supermarkets had fought over the land for more than a decade until a deal was struck to allow both to build last year.

Cost-cut bobbies are to use the buses

FRONTLINE officers will be forced to use public transport instead of panda cars due to cost-cutting at Staffordshire Police.

The force wants uniformed constables and community support officers to get on buses and trains as it tries to plug a £38 million gap in Government funding.

Police chiefs are trying to trim £900,000 from next year's transport and travel budget and want to cut down on the use of fleet cars.

Uniformed officers are already able to travel for free on trains and buses but the force wants the agreement with travel firms to be made more formal.

Assurance

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson said he would be seeking assurances from Chief Constable Mike Cunningham over the issue.

"There is no direct bus between Codsall and Kinver.

", so I will want reassurance there the area is not going to be lacking in policing because officers are spending half their time in the West Midlands trying to get from one end of South Staffordshire to the other," said the Tory MP.

Staffordshire Police spokesman Peter Bate said: "There's no question of officers using public transport to respond to crime – it's simply an extra option."

Advice talk just the job

DOZENS of job hunters in South Staffordshire enjoyed the launch of a work club session to get advice on how to get back into work.

The event, held at Essington's village hall in Hobnock Road, was also attended by the district's MP Gavin Williamson.

Business leaders from Hilton Main Construction and Essington Fruit Farm were on hand to advise.

Drop in total of new city businesses

THE number of new businesses starting in Wolverhampton has dropped by a third in six years.

Business leaders in the city have blamed parking charges and congestion for putting customers off and discouraging new firms from starting up.

The latest figures published by the Black Country Observatory show a fall from 1,000 new businesses in 2004 to a total of 680 new start-ups in 2010 – which is the latest year for which figures are available.

Other areas have also seen a decline but fared better with 900 new businesses in Dudley, 775 in Sandwell and 700 in Walsall.

Henry Carver, chairman of the Wolverhampton Business Group, has campaigned to get the city council to take a more "business friendly" approach with relaxed and simplified planning rules and cheaper parking.

He said: "Historically planning and car parking in the city centre have been nigh on impossible. But there are areas doing well. Wolverhampton Science Park is very popular. The council has made a lot of effort to address it and we're now getting more compliments than complaints."

Young in a spin over play area

Wolverhampton mayor Bert Turner with brothers Gabriel and Archie Brown

A CHILDREN'S playground featuring swings, slides and roundabouts has been officially opened in Wolverhampton thanks to £50,000 of Lottery cash.

The city's mayor Councillor Bert Turner cut the ribbon on the new play area at Bradmore Rec and 30 children promptly wanted to try the new equipment.

The Friends of Bradmore Rec applied for Big Lottery Fund cash last year and found out that they had been successful in August.

The new playground is aimed at the under-eights, and local children have given it the thumbs-up.

Lucy Reynolds, friends group committee member, said: "It looks fantastic, and everyone is really pleased with it. We wanted it to be really traditional.

"Our next challenge is improving the building the bowling club uses. We want to spruce it up and maybe bring in a cafe.

"Things are going really well for the Rec at the minute."

Bullying claims by staff at council

HUNDREDS of council staff in Wolverhampton have complained of being bullied at work.

Dozens say their managers are the worst offenders, new figures reveal. Managers were accused of verbally abusing 76 people. The general public was accused of verbal abuse by 14 people.

A report to councillors reveals managers and staff are to be given training to "improve their understanding of bullying and harassment issues" as part of a £606,000 "learning and development" budget.

Racial

The figures show staff feel more intimidated by their own colleagues and managers than they do by the public or elected councillors.

A total of 384 people claim to have been harassed, intimidated or bullied - 15 per cent of those who responded to a staff survey.

The survey revealed councillors had been accused by 162 council staff of "ignoring, ostracising or not including" them.

There were 15 incidents of racial bullying by managers compared with 19 by other colleagues and 13 by the general public.

Seventeen members of staff felt bullied by managers because of their age.

The city council has had a shake up of senior management to try to cut costs.

Help appeal on carnival

PREPARATIONS are already under way for this year's Willenhall carnival.

Organisers are calling for groups or entertainers who want to get involved on June 23 to get in touch.

This could be by holding a demonstration, charity stall, car boot sale or trade stall.

Anyone who wants to get involved should call Sharon Green on 01902 411611 or 07909 627736.

Cosford contender to house aviation museum

RAF Cosford has emerged as one of the contenders to house Wolverhampton's under-threat Boulton Paul Heritage Centre.

The centre is home to the city's priceless collection of exhibits detailing its aviation history – but is being forced out of its current base at Moog Aviation in Wobaston Road, Fordhouses.

Moog is relocating to the £67 million i54 business park next year and the land owner, General Electric, wants the museum to move as well at the same time.

Campaigners are now fighting tooth and nail to ensure the heritage centre survives. South Staffordshire Conservative MP Gavin Williamson is organising meetings with the Ministry of Defence to hold discussions over its future.

RAF Cosford has emerged as the preferred site but MoD Stafford is also being considered.

"We are stepping up our efforts to find the Boulton Paul Heritage Centre a new permanent home," Mr Williamson said. "We are all incredibly determined to see these amazing exhibits stay in the area. I'm arranging a meeting with people at the Ministry of Defence to see if the centre could move to an MoD property, to somewhere like RAF Cosford or MoD Stafford.

"These exhibits are too valuable to lose and be crushed by a bulldozer."

The heritage centre is run by the Boulton Paul Association, which holds open days, attracting hundreds of people to the factory. The centre has 20,000 sq ft of space packed with old aircraft, aircraft models.

Cleaner stole £1.8k from dead pensioner's account

A WOMAN employed as a cleaner and helper for a Wolverhampton pensioner stole £1,800 from his bank account after his death and spent half the cash on a summer holiday.

Carla Hall, aged 38, avoided being sent to prison last week after pleading guilty to theft. She withdrew the money from the bank account of 86-year-old Ronald Baugh following his death last January.

District judge Michael Wheeler heard Hall, of Holloway Street, Bilston, was introduced to Mr Baugh and befriended him.

Prosecuting at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court Jane Yeomans said Hall worked as a cleaner for Mr Baugh and the two became close. But after his death his family became concerned after £1,800 was withdrawn from his bank account.

A police investigation revealed Hall had taken the cash days after Mr Baugh's death and kept the money in her partner's bank account.

The court heard how in August last year, she spent £900 on a family holiday.

Empty

Defending, Roger Dorrance said Hall was asked by Mr Baugh to empty his bank account shortly before his death but accepted she should not have kept the money.

He said £900 had been returned to Mr Baugh's family by police and Hall had saved £900 to pay the remaining amount immediately. She pleaded guilty on the day of her trial after previously denying theft.

She was given a 14-week prison sentence, suspended for 18 months. She will be supervised by the probation service and will have to complete a specified activity as well as 160 hours of unpaid work. She was also ordered to pay £900 compensation and £500 costs.

Date for repairs to homes

A £20 MILLION scheme to repair council houses in Wolverhampton will begin at the end of the month.

The city council and its housing company Wolverhampton Homes are having to spend the money to repair botched work carried out in the 1970s and 1980s.

A total of 374 council owned homes had internal toilets and bathrooms added as extensions.

The extensions were dubbed "pods" but the roof beams and tiles are too heavy for the supporting walls.

Extent

Of the 374 homes, 111 have since been bought privately under right to buy. The council has not yet decided whether it will repair those homes as well.

The properties are all in the Low Hill area of the city.

The first eight homes affected are in a pilot project.

Council chiefs want to tackle these first to get a better idea of the full extent of work that will be needed and the potential disruption.

Possible solutions include the pods either being knocked down and rebuilt in brick or encased in a new timber framed building.

Madness show must be love-ly

Drama students at Coppice Performing Arts School are gearing up for their production of Our House at the Grand. From left Lydia O'Rourke and Jay Wiley

AM dram stars at a Wednesfield school will get a real taste of life in the limelight as they prepare to stage a show at the Grand Theatre.

Our House, the award-winning Madness Musical, will be performed by the Coppice Performing Arts School next Friday (27) and Saturday (28).

It features more than 15 Madness hits including Our House, Baggy Trousers, My Girl, Embarrassment, The Sun and The Rain, Driving In My Car, The Wings of a Dove and the all-time classic It Must Be Love. It is the second time the school has put on the show after being invited back by the Grand following the success of the show in 2011.

Tickets for Our House cost £9.50-£17.50.

Coppice Performing Arts School has more than 900 students. As part of Wolverhampton's Building Schools for the Future scheme, it is having a full refurbishment with new facilities costing £17.5 million.

Theft plot over lorry and timber admitted

THREE men from the Black Country have admitted conspiring to steal a lorry and load of timber from Wales.

Stephen Harty, aged 44, of Burcot Avenue, Eastfield, Wolverhampton, appeared at Mold Crown Court last week with James Ellison (26), of Wellstone Crescent, Bushbury, and James Flynn (22) of Gate Lane, Kingswinford. They were due to go on trial but all changed their pleas to guilty.

Judge Niclas Parry said they all had the good sense to plead guilty which would be reflected in sentence.

Warrant

He issued a warrant for the arrest of Joseph Cawley (37), also of Burcot Avenue, Wolverhampton, who the court was told had attended but had left after speaking to his barrister.

The conspiracy involved the theft of a Scania truck owned by the George Owen and Sons haulage company at Newtown, in Powys, last August. Police stopped the lorry, valued at £10,000 with its £6,500 load of timber destined for Devon.

Prosecutor Mr Nicholas Williams said all defendants claimed they were simply hired hands who had been paid £100 to do the job. All were granted bail pending sentence next month.

Car hire man stole vehicle

A MAN stole a £14,500 car he hired from a rental firm. David Zielinski failed to return the vehicle which has never been recovered, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard last week.

Miss Laura Hobson, defending said: "He is not a habitual thief. "

Zielinski, aged 29, of Brook Road, Wombourne, admitted the October 19 theft and was given a 12-month jail term, suspended for two years under supervision plus an order to pay £500 costs.

Bar plan for empty club to pull in 10 jobs

A DERELICT nightspot in Wolverhampton will re-open as a bar and grill restaurant under new plans. The venue would be located on the site of the former O'Connells nightclub and would bring 10 jobs.

The application for a licence has been submitted to Wolverhampton City Council by Sarabjit Singh Khera, of the company Singhfellows Ltd.

It is due to be considered by the licensing sub-committee. Mr Khera, who is aged 36, owns a commercial cleaning business.

He comes from Wolverhampton and only recently acquired the premises in Lichfield Street.

If it opens as a new bar and restaurant, it will be his first nightspot venture.

Music

Mr Khera said: "I am quite certain this will be a success. It will create 10 new positions and is the site of the former O'Connell's.

"I think this place has been empty for about four years so it will be good to have something there. I believe it will offer something different to anything in the city at the moment. "I plan to have it open by Valentine's Day."

The site has been empty since O'Connells closed.

The licensing application includes a request for live music to be allowed to play until 2.30am Monday to Saturday and 1.30am on Sundays.

Before it was O'Connells, it was opened as Flanigans by Wolverhampton businessmen Steve Banks and Derek Turner. Prior to that it was O'Neills.

Bank thief ordered to sell her car

A BANK worker who stole almost £43,000 from elderly customers has been ordered by a judge to sell her car to claim back a fraction of her ill-gotten gains.

The £2,000 Vauxhall Zafira is the only thing debt-ridden Selina Watters has left, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

Mr Ben Williams, prosecuting, told a proceeds of crime hearing that the home of the 35-year-old mother of four from Bradley Drive, Willenhall, was already being repossessed by others she owed money to.

He added: "The car is the only realisable asset that she has and it is estimated to be worth £2,000."

Curfew

Judge John Warner made a confiscation order for that amount and gave Watters six months to pay with 35 days in jail in default.

He warned her: "If you do get sent away that does not extinguish your right to pay."

Watters turned to crime while working as a personal banker at branches of Barclays in Queen Street, Wolverhampton and Wolverhampton Street, Willenhall between January 2009 and March 2010 and was given a 16-month prison sentence last year after admitting eight charges of theft.

She has since been freed on home detention and is now living under a curfew.

Colin McCarraher, her defence counsel, told those proceedings that she had been of "exemplary character" and "bitterly regretted" what she had done.

Prescription of yoga sessions

A GP is offering regular yoga classes from a Bilston surgery for the benefit of patients.

Dr Shoeb Suryani will host classes run by Walsall-based Bliss Yoga on Thursdays between 2-3pm at the surgery in Hill Street, Bradley.

Icy canal alert

PEOPLE have been warned not to tempt fate and walk on frozen canals across the Black Country.

British Waterways, which maintains the region's sprawling canal network, today issued a warning to walkers not to try to walk over the iced-up canals.

Varsity to pay £25k after dead rat found in kitchen

A DEAD rat and vermin droppings were discovered in the kitchens of a city centre bar in Wolverhampton, a court heard. The premises were visited after a complaint from a worker.

by Laura Blyth

Environmental health officers from the city council visited The Varsity in Stafford Street after a disgruntled worker contacted them over hygiene issues.

The city's magistrates court heard on Tuesday that droppings were found on the floor of the kitchens, as well as a dead rat on March 1 last year.

Meals

Buckinghamshire-based Barracuda Bars Co Ltd was ordered to pay almost £25,000 after admitting one charge of failing to ensure that adequate procedures were in place to control pests.

Mr Barry Berlin, prosecuting on behalf of the city council, said: "The management at The Varsity knew of the problems on February 27 and did not contact the local authority. The kitchen was kept open for two days. The public were put at risk."

The court was told 48 meals were served in the kitchens from the date the droppings were first spotted to the date the city council visited.

He told the court holes were also found in cupboards and large gaps under doors where the vermin most likely gained access.

In another case last June, Barracuda Bars Co Ltd was ordered to pay more than £8,000 after admitting "appalling" standards of hygiene in its kitchens at The Varsity.

And in August last year, the kitchens were temporarily closed after a rat was discovered.

District Judge Michael Wheeler said: "The risk of serious illness or even death was a possibility."

Barracuda Bars Co Ltd was ordered to pay £21,265 and fined £3,150, as well as a £15 victim surcharge.

The company said it has since resolved the issues and that new pest control guidelines had been sent out to each of its 200 bars and pubs across the country.

Grocery theft man jailed

A SERIAL shoplifter who took items including cheese and joints of meat on seven different occasions has been jailed. Phillip Chell targeted Co-op stores in Penn, Wednesfield and Wombourne during his month-long crime spree.

On seven different occasions, he took a range of wine, whisky, liquid washing gel and gammon joints.

And in one theft at the Co-op in Stubby Lane, Wednesfield, he took 25 blocks of cheese worth £100.

His offending ran from December 18 through to January 3, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard this week.

The court was told the 31-year-old, of Bell Street South, Brierley Hill, had a drug addiction.

District Judge Michael Wheeler jailed him for 12 weeks after he admitted seven counts of theft.

Hospice staff Simon Cater and Sally Woods get set for the 80s experience

Tuning into the 80s at birthday do for hospice

DODGY perms, day-glo clothes and dungarees were trends in the 1980s and Compton Hospice is celebrating its 30th birthday with a party dedicated to the decade.

The 80s Experience will include a guest appearance by singer Jaki Graham, whose hits back in the decade include Set Me Free.

The hospice is hosting the fancy dress event at Wolverhampton Racecourse on February 18 featuring popular 80s tribute band, A Kick Up the 80s.

Memories

Simon Cater, corporate fundraiser for Compton, said he hoped the party would bring back some great memories.

"The event will have something for everyone, and as well as being a great deal of fun, we hope it will help people remember just how far we have come since the hospice was first opened, in the days of big hair, big shoulder pads and Duran Duran," he said.

Guests will begin the night with a cocktail reception at 7.30pm, followed by a luxury buffet, live music and a disco until midnight. Tickets cost £26.95, and are available from the fundraising team on 0845 2255497.

THE Good Childhood Report 2012 tells us that at least 500,000 British children are unhappy with their lives.

Last Sunday we went for a brisk stroll in the country and encountered three family groups of mother, father and children. In each case, the father was on his mobile phone.

You see it all the time. What ought to be a cheerful, interactive family group has one or two members who are in the group but out of the loop.

Children love to talk to, joke with and have the approval of their parents. Too many parents, especially fathers, seem to have no particular interest in their children, and the mobile phone is the perfect medium for ignoring them.

And we wonder why half a million kids are unhappy?

Time stands still as revamp clock loses it hands

THE landmark clock that has stood outside Beatties in Wolverhampton for years is without all of its hands – as part of work that will see it chime once again.

Eagle-eyed visitors to the city centre have noticed the four-faced clock in Victoria Street is looking bare.

Wolverhampton City Council said the clock, which was installed in 1993, had become unreliable and its chimes had stopped. The hands were removed so specialist restoration workers could access the mechanism inside. The device is now being restored and upgraded in Derby. The clock will be out of action for the next few weeks.

City council spokesman Tim Clark said the maintenance and upkeep of the clock fell to the local authority.

"The clock needs a new mechanism fitting inside it," he said. "The clock is outside and it takes a bit of a battering from the elements.

"The chimes were not working and the clock was not performing very well.

"It needs a new mechanism put in place and that is being created by a specialist contractor in Derby. The hands have gone, they needed to come off so they could access the mechanism inside.

"We are looking forward to seeing it back up and running in a few weeks' time," he added.

The unique four-faced clock stands at the top of Victoria Street, at its junction with Darlington Street and Queen Square.

Wife, 27, in illegal claim on benefits

A WOMAN admitted obtaining more than £8,000 in illegal benefit payments despite her husband earning £37,000 a year.

Sandeep Kaur, aged 27, of St Annes Road, Fordhouses, Wolverhampton, was given an eight-week jail sentence, suspended for 12 months, for falsely claiming £8,172.52 in benefits.

She will also do 200 hours of unpaid work and re-pay the money.

Kaur appeared at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court for sentencing last week.

Allowance

She had earlier pleaded guilty to two counts of making a false statement to obtain housing and council tax benefit, one of producing a false tenancy statement and another of making false representation to obtain employment and support allowance.

The offences took place between January 2009 and December 2009 at a time when her husband Sukhwinder Singh was earning £37,000 a year.

Nisha Kumar, in mitigation, said Kaur was already repaying the money.

City parking charge cuts not enough, say bosses

A PROPOSED reduction in the charges at Wolverhampton city centre car parks does not go far enough to attract more shoppers to the city, business bosses have warned

The price of parking for the first hour at car parks run by Wolverhampton City Council in Fold Street, School Street and Market Street is set to be reduced from 60p down to 50p following recommendations which were made as part of a review into the fees.

But there have already been calls for the first hour of parking to be free.

It is also proposed that all other charges at the three facilities, those at the Civic Centre, St Peter's and long stay car parks in Oxford Street, Church Lane, Faulkland Street, Peel Street and Broad Street are frozen for two years.

Busier

But firms in the city centre said they believed more should be done to help encourage shoppers to visit Wolverhampton.

Jan MacDougall, who has owned Jan's Vintage Clothes & Accessories at the city's antiques market for 15 years, said: "I would have liked to have seen the first hour being free to get more people here.

"It used to be a lot busier in this part of town than it is and there are a lot of businesses that are struggling. People don't want to pay twice for parking in different parts of the city, and that is what is happening at the minute."

Meanwhile, Susan Harris, director of Harris Opticians, in School Street, said the costs of parking should have been reduced even further.

Since September last year, the council has provided free evening parking at Fold Street, Market, Peel Street and Church Street.

Owner of Beatties toasts 17pc rise in sales

BEATTIES owner House of Fraser toasted a record festive season with sales in the week before Christmas soaring 17 per cent.

The department stores group said like-for-like sales for the five weeks to December 31 were up 11.1 per cent – a record for the month.

This was repeated in the week to December 24, with sales surging 17 per cent on the same week a year earlier.

Online sales also rocketed, up 124 per cent. It is in stark contrast to some of its competitors which announced sliding sales figures.

Delighted

Tesco announced a worse than expected drop in sales in the run-up to Christmas, while Mothercare, Argos and Thornton's all added to the retail misery.

Other supermarket chains, such as Sainsbury and Morrisons, have revealed they have benefited from families splashing out on traditional Christmas groceries. But big-name shops on the high street have struggled.

Don McCarthy, chairman, said he was delighted with the good news for House of Fraser. "We are pleased with the positive sales performance in the critical Christmas trading period," he added.

Brushing up on art knowledge

Wolverhampton Art Gallery assistant Rose Adams prepares for the new tours

TOURS are being launched at Wolverhampton Art Gallery in a bid to give people a rare behind-the-scenes glimpse of the building and its contents.

The 30-minute tours will focus on everything from the fascia of the 120-year-old Lichfield Street building to the 300 years of art displayed inside.

Marketing manager Zoe Papiernik said: "In the past we have only done this for specific occasions such as Heritage Open Day but the interest was such that we have decided to make it a regular monthly feature. It is aimed at giving a general introduction to the gallery to those who have not been for several months, many years or possibly never before."

The gallery's exhibits range from Georgian and Victorian paintings and decorative art to modern day Pop Art. The tours will be held on the first Saturday of the month at midday, starting February 4.

Bulldozer due at Fox Hotel

BULLDOZERS will move in to demolish an eyesore former hotel in Wolverhampton city centre next month, it emerged today.

The Fox Hotel, off the busy Penn Road island, closed in November and is due to be knocked down by February 29.

Councillor Peter Bilson today confirmed the authority was in "ongoing discussions" with an unnamed operator interested in buying up the land for a new hotel.

Drinking in the history of pubs

AN exhibition looking at the history of Wolverhampton pubs opens at Bantock House in the city later this month.

The display, entitled Time Gentlemen Please, runs from January 25 to May 6 at the Finchfield Road attraction and has free entry.

Hospital anger on new unit

A SPECIALIST centre for vascular surgery to be launched at Dudley's Russells Hall Hospital will put patients' lives at risk, say Wolverhampton health bosses.

From April, vascular surgeons and specialists from all over the Black Country will be based in Dudley but Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital says this will break up its renowned team at its Heart & Lung Centre.

The £50m Wolverhampton unit treats patients from around the Black Country, South Staffordshire and Shropshire.

Emergency

New Cross chief executive David Loughton said the heart and vascular services at the centre were "totally inter-dependent" and added that lives would be at risk if they were separated.

The decision means that any of the patients at the Heart & Lung Centre requiring a vascular specialist in an emergency would have to wait for them to travel from Dudley.

A letter of objection against the decision by the Black Country Primary Care Trust Cluster has been issued. Health chiefs behind the decision say an expert unit at Dudley will cut down on the number of patients dying of abdominal aortic aneurusym.

On course to help young

TEENAGERS in Wolverhampton have the chance to get a head start with the help of a course designed to prepare them for further education, training or work.

The Get it On programme, run by the City of Wolverhampton College, aims to encourage 16 to 18-year-olds who are not in employment, education or training to gain the skills they need to succeed.

As part of the eight-week course, youngsters take part in a number of activities designed to boost confidence. For more information contact Rich on 01902 821926 or 07500810066 or email toothr@wolvcoll.ac.uk

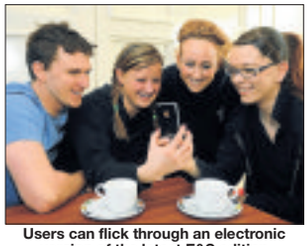
Get the new E&S iPad and iPhone app for free



Users can flick through an electronic version of the latest E&S edition

DOWNLOAD the Express & Star's new app to your iPad or iPhone to get one week of access to our digital newspapers absolutely free.

The app's page-turning technology allows readers to view Britain's best selling regional paper as it appears on the printed page but with the state-of-the-art benefits of using a handheld device.

Once the app is downloaded from iTunes, iPad and iPhone users can flick through the pages of the most recent electronic edition of the paper. Within minutes readers get a pixel-perfect replica to view even when offline. Subscribing to the newspaper via the iPad app costs £1.49 per week or £3.99 per month. The first week of access to digital downloads is free, giving customers seven days to read news, sport and opinion before they commit. Readers can use the archive to view recent back issues or select specific pages.

The iPad app technology lets users scroll through the pages, zoom in and out or turn the device to view a double page spread.

A smart search facility means readers can use keywords to find the story they want either from the latest edition or the papers in their archive. Users can save pages to their device, share with friends on social media sites such as Facebook and Twitter, or send articles via email. The app is also free to download for iPhone users, with the same charging structure as the iPad.

It boasts the same functionality, allowing readers to use the phone handset to keep up to date with their favourite evening newspaper. Editor Adrian Faber said: "The new app is the perfect way to digest the Express & Star's excellent content wherever you are, while replicating the page-turning experience which so many readers enjoy.

"Whether readers want the major news from the region or the latest goings-on at their favourite local football club, the Express & Star app has it all."

Hunt for base as arson to shut scout unit for months

AN arson-hit Scout group in Bilbrook will be out of action for up to two months, it has emerged, as an MP has vowed that he will find it a temporary new home.

The First Bilbrook Codsall Scout Group has been devastated by the deliberate blaze to its base in Bilbrook Road.

Members have lost all of their camping equipment and the building has been severely fire damaged.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson hit out and described those responsbile for starting the fire as "scum".

"The scouts are going to be without a home for around six to eight weeks" he said. "I am now working to try and find them a temporary new indoor base. I am contacting local schools and other community organisations to see if they can offer them a home.

Struggling

"This is an absoulutely devastating crime and those responsible are utter scum."

The arsonists got into the building via a fire door and also stole two Honda electric go-carts.

Staffordshire Police said officers were called to the scene at 5.30am on Saturday. They are now appealing for witnesses to come forward to help in the investigation.

Scout leader Terry Cowling said he was struggling to make sense of the crime, which has left the group with a repair bill running into tens of thousands of pounds.

The building was also used by others. Anyone with information is asked to call Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

So fed up, leaders Nick Golding, Jane Bradbury, Terry Cowling with Joseph Coleman, Luke Pooler, Jake Pooler, James Bradbury, Daniel Collins and Sam Coleman

5ft hole in wall left by raiders

THIEVES smashed their way into the B&Q superstore in Bilston on Monday and stole thousands of pounds worth of power tools and fires.

Shoppers at the store on the Spring Vale Industrial Estate were shocked to find the 5ft hole in the wall when they arrived in the morning.

During the raid thieves broke through bricks, breeze blocks and plaster board to get inside the superstore, just off the busy Black Country Route. It is believed the raid happened at about 3am.

Sealed

The hole was directly behind a section of the shop selling expensive electric fires, heaters and power tools.

The crooks stole a pallet of 100 Makita drills worth £9,900 along with numerous high value electric fires and other stock.

Several aisles were sealed off while workers assessed the damage.

Police have launched an investigation and are appealing for information to help catch the culprits.

Anyone with information is asked to call officers on 0345 113 5000.

MPs expenses up after riots recall

RECALL of MPs to Parliament because of the summer riots led to increased expenses claims.

But West Midland and Staffordshire MPs had a frugal month in the latest batch of parliamentary expenses to be released.

Claims for August and September 2011 totalled just £3,354.50 between 20 of them. Since last May they have claimed a combined total of £24,528.33. Nationally Britain's 650 MPs claimed £3.5 million and made 27,000 expenses claims.

It is common for expenses to be low in August and September because Parliament is not usually sitting over the summer, meaning MPs do not have to travel as much between London and their constituencies.

However some were forced to fork out for the most expensive train tickets due to the Prime Minister's decision to have an emergency recall of Parliament on August 11.

Family

Emma Reynolds, MP for Wolverhampton North East, claimed £60 for a ticket. She added: "It is right that as many MPs as possible went back to debate the riots with the Prime Minister."

Miss Reynolds asked David Cameron about compensation for businesses affected when looters marauded in the city centre streets on August 9.

Gavin Williamson, MP for South Staffordshire, said he had also claimed around £200 because he had been on holiday in Scarborough with his family when the call to return to Parliament came through.

Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy's only claim for the whole month was a £93 train ticket to get back to the House of Commons.

Most expenses claimed by West Midland MPs were for travel, including car use and train fares.

News in brief

£167m deal for races owner

THE owner of Wolverhampton Racecourse has been taken over by the billionaire Reuben brothers in a £167 million deal.

But the deal will almost certainly have to go to the Office of Fair Trading for approval.

The Reuben brothers also own Northern Racing and the takeover of Arena Leisure will give them control of more than a third of all horse racing events in the UK this year.

Arena owns seven racecourses including Wolverhampton, Doncaster, Worcester and Southwell.

Lorry crashes into rail bridge

A LORRY hit a low railway bridge in Wolverhampton on Monday causing delays for commuters.

Train services on the line were disrupted for around half an hour when the lorry hit a bridge in Dixon Street, Parkfields, just after 8am.

London Midland services were allowed to continue after an inspection by Network Rail.

Unhealthy look to city lifestyle

WOLVERHAMPTON has come second in a league of cities which have the nation's unhealthiest lifestyle, according to a new survey.

People in the city drink and smoke more, exercise less and eat less fruit and vegetable than any other city apart from Manchester, the survey on behalf of health supplement Kwai Garlic shows.

Antiques show at Wightwick Manor

THE Antiques Roadshow is to film at Wolverhampton's Wightwick Manor.

The BBC show, presented by Fiona Bruce, will be there on July 26.

Visitors can bring along their family heirlooms for valuation by the show's experts between 9.30am-4.30pm. The revamped tea rooms are expected to be ready in time for filming.

Man hit by train

A MAN died after being hit by a train near Bilbrook station on Sunday night. The man was pronounced dead at the scene. British Transport Police said his death was not being treated as suspicious.

1,000 council homes may be brought back into use

MORE than 1,000 empty homes across South Staffordshire are set to be brought back into use to help tackle the shortage of affordable properties in the area.

Almost half have been empty for more than six months, with the main problem areas being Wombourne, Perton, Great Wyrley and Cheslyn Hay.

A draft strategy to bring the homes back into use will be considered on February 21. Encouraging owners to use empty homes would avoid the need to pay hefty legal payments if enforcement action was taken.

The move could see the council use a portion of the £130,000 given to it by the former regional housing board to introduce an empty property grant to owners to encourage them to get the homes back into use. This could be either by renting them out or selling them.

Standard

Most of the empty homes are in the sales or lettings process, or going through the probate system after the owners have died. Others lie empty because owners cannot afford to renovate them to bring them up to standard to either let or sell.

Grant Mitchell, strategic development manager at South Staffordshire Council, said: "There's clearly a shortage of affordable homes and it's frustrating for people trying to get a property when there are more than 450 lying empty for six months or longer.

"We need to try to utilise what we have because providing homes for local people is important for the long-term future of our villages."

The empty homes initiative will also help to further protect the green belt – which covers 80 per cent of the district – by limiting the number of newly-built homes.

DELEGATES from an international software company visited a school in Bilston to see how their innovative technology has transformed learning in the classroom.

Senior executives from Smart Canada went along to Villiers Primary. For the past 16 months, the school has played a pioneering role in the development of a digital classroom.

Technologies being trialled include next generation touch screen laptops, interactive Smart Table and key Smart software. This approach to 21st century teaching and learning is attracting global interest.

Smart Technologies is a manufacturer of interactive presentation systems and software. Villiers Primary is a nationally recognised ICT Mark school with a proven track record in using technology.

Head Sally Lanni said: "The use of Smart Technology has brought learning to life in our classrooms."

Man,22, in street attack on stranger

A KNIFEMAN is facing the prospect of a long prison sentence after a street attack in Wolverhampton.

A row flared after two strangers appeared to accidentally bump into each other in the city centre.

Angry words and possibly a punch were exchanged before one of them walked off, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

The man went into the nearby Just 99p shop in Victoria Street and stole a kitchen knife from the display.

He then headed back into the street and unwrapped the long-bladed knife before using it to slash the face of the other man.

Custody

The victim is understood to have been wounded above the eye but is believed to have escaped serious injury.

Marcus Pascoe, aged 22, from Hampton View, Woden Road, Heath Town, admitted wounding with intent when he appeared at Wolverhampton Crown Court last week.

He also admitted being in possession of a kitchen knife in Victoria Street on October 17 and stealing a knife from the Just 99p shop on the same date.

He entered the pleas on the basis that the other man was first to throw a punch.

Pascoe, who has previous convictions, was remanded in custody for reports to be prepared and will be sentenced in March.

Designer's appeal over stolen wedding dresses

One of the stolen dresses

Dresses are worth thousands

Another of the dresses that was taken in the raid

The shop was stripped bare of its dresses

A DESIGNER whose bespoke wedding dresses were stolen in a raid on her Wolverhampton boutique has appealed for their return.

About 40 gowns were stolen when the front door to Patricia Couture in Tettenhall, was hammered through during a raid last week.

Heartbroken studio owner Patricia Onions said that 20 of those were from her couture range, which she had painstakingly designed and added to over a decade and were priced from £2,500.

She said: "I'm sure I can reorder dresses that weren't in the couture range but they will take about 20 weeks to come in. This will have a big impact. I just really, really want those couture dresses back.

"I am pleading with whoever took them to just box them up and leave them outside or something."

A further 20 dresses used by brides-to-be to try on for size – worth a further £1,000 each – were also taken.

Mrs Onions, who has decades of experience in the fashion industry, has been left "devastated" by the raid and now fears for the future of her business.

Showcase

Mother-of-five Mrs Onions was alerted to the raid when two officers visited her at home.

When she arrived at her studio, in Lower Green near the Mitre Inn, she found the front door had been smashed in.

Dresses had been left strewn across the road. The couture range dresses are all unique, bespoke gowns that have been hand crafted in-house by Mrs Onions herself.

They are used to showcase her design talents at fashion shows and wedding fairs across the country. Mrs Onions said it would take "years" to replace the gowns.

But despite what has happened, the businesswoman said she felt fortunate that dozens of dresses she is currently working on for brides were not taken as they were locked away elsewhere.

Mrs Onions was formerly based in High Street, Tettenhall, but relocated in 2010 because the Lower Green premises are bigger.

Police spokesman David Hodgetts appealed for witnesses or anyone with information about the raid to call police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Bus travellers now have to walk

IT is necessary that there should be an answer to the letter from Simon Mathieson, the Area Operations Manager for National Express, West Midlands.

Necessary because this company, in collaboration with Centro have been using the smoke and mirrors technique to delude and confuse the population of Wolverhampton since the new bus station opened last July.

Mr Mathieson cites the number of journeys made by his buses and claims a two per cent increase in the number of people coming into the city centre because of the route changes.

What he does not quote is how many of that percentage are walking through the centre to the bus and railway stations, since they can longer access them by bus. This includes people who are elderly or disabled.

What the smoke and mirrors cannot disguise is that people who previously were able to access the bus and railway stations by one bus now have to catch two or three, or walk, if they are able, or use private transport, the latter adding to congestion, air pollution and the use of scarce fossil fuel.

Add the congestion and deterioration of air quality in Lichfield Street and Princess Street, these areas being used for driver changes and waiting time instead of the bus station, and it can be seen that the opinion of thousands of people in the south west and north of this city, that both Centro and National Express West Midlands are not fit for purpose is well and truly justified.

Blitz on the city centre is too late

THE blitz on Wolverhampton city centre seem to have come far too late.

You do not see hamburger stands in the centre aisles of the Merry Hill shopping centre. I worked in Wolverhampton 1964-1968 then moved to Dudley, Birmingham and then London.

I visited all four places six weeks ago and could not believe the deterioration of Wolverhampton, Dudley Street, where others have excelled.

If we start to invite good retailers into our city, by means of lower rents, lower rates, free car parking, that's the way to get Wolverhampton back to a quality city. Just getting rid of burger stands will not work.

We are not all total idiots where drink is concerned

AFTER reading the report "how many units can you safely drink" and the coments made by Labour MP Mr Miller, Sir Ian Gilmore and Gavin Partington, anybody would think that the population of this country are idiots where drinking is concerned.

The statement from Gavin Partington that drinkers need simple, consistent advice on how to drink responsibly is both stupid and insulting.

Like millions more who enjoy a couple of pints with friends at the pub, I am sick and tired of being typecast with the louts who make me ashamed to be British.

The advice from these three should be directed towards the police and magistrates who are supposed to arrest and sentence those who cannot control their drinking habits. Then we would all be better off, especially the NHS.

BRIDGE CORNER

AS PLAYERS progress, they meet situations that it was not possible to teach them in the Beginners Course.

How can you put your hand over, as Responder, when the opposition have made an overcall? Here are a few pointers – more on the topic next week.

What possible hands can you expect?

- An overcall shows a five-card suit.
- The point count can be as low as eight points.
- The overcall should not exceed 15 points.

The point of overcalling

- To play or pinch the contract.
- Lead directing.
- To interfere with your bidding sequence.

What to do?

- Take note of the overcall. It might help you to locate missing cards, if you end up as Declarer.

- On the whole, ignore it, bidding naturally.
- You have extra bids at your disposal, so sometimes an overcall can help you.
- Extra bids are cue bids of their suit and Double.

THE BIDDING

| 1H | 2D | X | XX |

On this deal, North would have bid One Spade but is stuck after the Two Diamonds overcall. The double here is extremely useful and strongly suggests four spades and six-plus points, asking South for more information.

The redouble, by East, shows about nine points.

Of course, in a competitive auction, anything could happen and more bids might flow!

Looking back 50 years with Louise Elwell

QUICK action by British Waterways in putting up a lifebelt and safety rope at Bratch Canal Lock, Wombourne, was commended by Wombourne Parish Council.

They had been put up two months after the request had been first considered by the council said Councillor L J A Bennett.

The safety measures were requested because pleasure crafts were frequently using the canal. Though there had not been an accident for 10 years, the risk was great because up to this point there had been not rescue equipment on hand.

Chairman of the council, Councillor J H Griffiths used his casting vote to name a new road at Nursery Gardens, Dickenson Road in preference to Blakeley Heath Road to avoid confusion with Blakeley Heath Avenue.

GPs in Wolverhampton were being prevented from giving proper attention to ill patients because of the clamour of perfectly healthy people rushing for smallpox vaccination when there was no urgent necessity.

Dr J F Galloway, Wolverhampton medical officer of health, said: "We are asking people who have been in contact with known smallpox sufferers to be vaccinated immediately. However, outside this group there is no reason at present to clamour for vaccination."

He added: "It is obvious the risk to the public is quite minute. There have only been a few cases of smallpox."

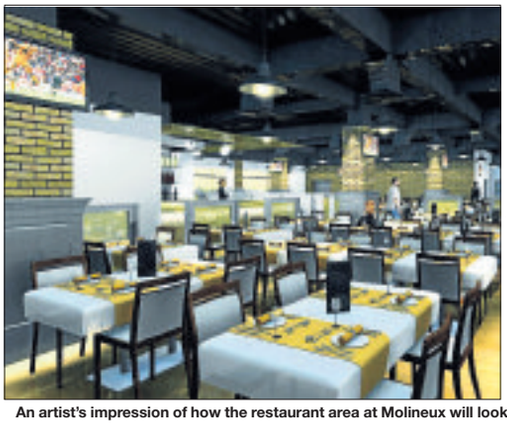
Extra £2m as Molineux is to meet hospitality goal



An artist's impression of how the restaurant area at Molineux will look

The planned bar area in Stan Cullis stand

Artist's image of a hospitality area

WOLVES chairman Steve Morgan has announced that he is ploughing an extra £2 million into revamping Molineux.

The old terrace bar will return and an upmarket restaurant and museum will be created under the plans. The news comes as it was also revealed the second phase of the stadium's redevelopment – rebuilding the Steve Bull stand – may not take place for another two to three years as the club juggles financial pressures.

Artist's impressions show diners at the new WV1 Bar and WV1 Restaurant will enjoy panoramic views of the pitch, while the supporters' bar, renamed the North Bank Bar, will be at ground level.

Mr Morgan said he believed the new hospitality suite in the revamped Stan Cullis stand would bring Molineux in line with the "best facilities in the world", as it emerged the cost had risen from £16m to £18m.

"We wanted to create a classy venue, with a traditional feel, which fits with the unique style and atmosphere of Wolves," he said.

Pressure

Chief executive Jez Moxey revealed the decision over the Steve Bull stand would be made by the end of February, but vowed it was a case of "when, not if" it would be built.

He said FA requirements to produce more home-grown players for Premier League squads had led to the £50m Compton Park training ground project, putting extra pressure on finances.

Meanwhile an interactive museum will open at Molineux by Christmas as part of the rebuild of the stadium's North Bank.

It will house memorabilia charting the club's 135-year history, from its beginnings as amateur squad St Luke's, to its unofficial Champions of the World status during the 1950s and its current Premier League battle.

The museum will be a similar size to one at Chelsea FC, which is 7,212 sq ft.

Wolves spokesman Matt Grayson said the museum had been included in plans to improve the experience of visiting fans.

Make do and mend is making a comeback

MEMORY LANE

by Fiona Carding

"MAKE DO and Mend" was once a phrase only heard of in wartime Britain but now the philosophy is enjoying a resurgence.

Whether it's the worldwide recession, concern for the environment or the latest celebrity trend – Make Do and Mend (MDM) is making a comeback.

In 1940s Britain, MDM was a necessity as clothes rationing was introduced and pre-war clothing factories switched their production lines to the war effort. Official advice from the government was to "always carry a needle and cotton and mending silk with you – this will save many a ladder in stockings or prevent the loss of buttons".

Clothing coupons were introduced but with each 15-month personal clothing allowance including just one pair of socks every four months, one shirt every 20 months, and one jacket every two years – a stitch in time saved coupons as well as clothes.

New life for old sheets was the battle cry from Mrs Sew-and-Sew, a cartoon character created by the government during World War II to encourage women to make do and save buying new. A MDM leaflet by the Ministry of Information states, "Not only sheets but all your household things must be made the very most of."

Kay Reynolds from Dudley said: "When I was growing up in Oldbury in the early fifties my mother still cut worn bed sheets down the centre to extend their life.

She would turn them over and re-stitch them, tucking the worn areas under the mattress.

Then when the sheets were too worn to use they were cut down for pillow cases before finally becoming dusters and dish cloths. Nothing went to waste."

"Frayed shirt cuffs would be unpicked, flipped over and sewn back on – the frayed edges neatly hidden away."

Utility furniture was also available and those who had lost their homes in air raids and newly weds were some of those who could apply.

Long before anyone had coined the term recycling – our grandmothers were already skilled experts. Perhaps, in these tough times, we need to take a leaf out of the history books and practise the 3R's of Recycling, Renewing and Reinventing.

Clothing ration books belonged to S Hodson of Willenhall.

Mat'll do nicely as karate kids land top trophy haul

THE Elite Shotokan Karate Club based in Essington has done itself proud by grabbing a clutch of gold, silver and bronze.

Students from the club competed at the MSKF British Championships last month in Stoke-on-Trent.

Charlie Harris aged six, from GreatWyrley, won gold in kata (forms) and gold in kumite (fighting) in his age categories, as did 11-year-old Jack Harris, also from Great Wyrley.

Daniel Chew, from Essington, won a full set – gold in kata, silver in team kata and bronze in kumite.

Jake Cartridge, aged 10, of Willenhall, won his kumite class and Joshua Devey, 12, took gold in kata.

Other gold medal winners were Owen Cartridge, aged 14, from Willenhall, John Hill, 54, of Great Wyrley, Richard Hill, 26, of Great Wyrley, and Mike Carr, aged 24, of Hednesford.

"This is a fantastic achievement for the club and really proves that the students are developing into superb competitors," said chief instructor David Hill.

Club members train at the Essington Community Centre, in Hobnock Road, on Wednesdays from 5.30pm-7pm, and on Fridays from 5pm to 6.30pm.

Anyone interested in joining can come along to the club or call Mr Hill on 0785 490 8735.

Metal theft fears lead a father to put up CCTV

James Sargent – angry

AN angry father has installed CCTV at his family's home as metal thieves continually prey on the nearby M6.

James Sargent has spent £1,000 following concerns over thieves using his garden as an escape route and posibly striking at his property.

The motorway has been hit by metal thefts which has seen the fourth lane unable to open for days because signals have been damaged.

Mr Sargent lives with his wife Tracey and three-year-old daughter Francesca in Crompton Close, Walsall which backs on to the M6.

He said he has seen thieves on numerous occasions, and they damage his conifer trees by climbing over fencing to escape with valuable copper.

Suspicious

Mr Sargent has now installed four cameras around his property due to fears his home could also become a target.

The 39-year-old signalling engineer said: "They chuck it over the fence right in front of my property. It puts you on edge and makes you think if they are coming out on a job to pinch cable, and can't get it, they will be attracted to my property."

A 6ft fence was installed down the embankment, but Mr Sargent wants the Highways Agency to double its height.

Damaged cable near the motorway

Chief Insp Carl Flynn, manager of the Central Motorway Police Group, said: "People have gained access to the motorway, or areas alongside to tamper with cabling. This is a serious matter, as it not only is a serious arrestable offence but it also could place lives at risk by affecting overhead signage and lighting on the motorway.

"Six people are currently on bail in connection with an inquiry where suspicious activity was reported alongside the M6 near junction 10 last month."

Highways Agency spokeswoman Jo Carroll said: "We take Mr and Mrs Sargent's concerns seriously and a representative from our contractors met with them in early December to discuss the issue."

Old Fashioned Values Pay Dividends For Cloudy2Clear

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that his approach is the key. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Some people may call the way I do things a little old-fashioned but it's amazing how a simple mix of manners, punctuality and personal service increases your business. I'm constantly taken aback by customers who are shocked that we turn up when we say we will, do the job that is required and clean up after ourselves. I'm afraid it indicates to me that there are many companies who don't and that's just not fair to the customer.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Walsall, Wolverhampton, Dudley, Cannock, Bridgnorth & Stourbridge areas and Brian is finding that his ethos is proving to be a major factor in his success. 'When I started out I just did the things that came naturally to me. I really hate being let down by tradesmen so I was determined not to let that happen to my customers. As it turns out that little bit of extra care has meant I get friends and family of people I have done work for on the phone constantly so it's not just personally satisfying but good for business too. At the end of the day it's not rocket science, is it?'

Sign of trouble as name of centre hidden by trees

A NEW road sign directing drivers to Bilston's newly-opened £18.5 million leisure centre can barely be seen by drivers after it was erected behind some trees.

The sign along the Black Country Route into the town features the words Bert Williams Leisure Centre. But Tom Fellows of Bilston says it is partially blocked by the trees and can hardly be seen. He said the whole town was upset and branded the sign's positioning as a "complete waste of taxpayers' money."

It is the latest controversy to surround the new leisure centre after the city council decided not to put Bert Williams's name on the building.

Mr Fellows, secretary of the Lower Bradley Residents' Association, said: "When it gets to spring, the trees will be in full bloom and this sign will be completely out of sight.

Petition

"It is a total waste of taxpayers' money, especially after the council decided not to put Bert's name up on the leisure centre."

The 65-year-old coach driver, of Wallace Road, said he would be drawing up a petition to hand over to Wolverhampton City Council.

Bob Willis, service manager for traffic management at the city council, said: "We are aware that a sign directing people to the new Bert Williams Leisure Centre, situated on a central reservation on the Black Country Route, is partially obscured by a tree.

"We were limited by where the sign could be erected and it has been placed where it is most visible, behind the smallest of a row of trees in the area.

"We are very reluctant to remove any trees unless absolutely necessary. Should the sign become more obstructed as the tree grows, we will look to cut back some of the branches."

Celebration as protest halts 36ft phone mast

Residents of Tettenhall took to the streets to protest

PEOPLE power has headed off plans for a new 36ft phone mast in a Wolverhampton village. Petitions and a protest over the proposed 3G mast in Tettenhall have paid off.

by Charlotte Cross

Government planning inspectors have confirmed they would uphold the city council's decision to refuse the bid by O2 and Vodaphone.

Inspectors said they threw out the appeal on the grounds of its effect on the character and appearance of the area, and whether the benefits were enough to outweigh any harm caused by the mast. Ward councillor Barry Findlay said he was delighted by the Planning Inspectorate's decision.

"It is a credit to the tremendous amount of work done by the people in that community to oppose the plans - their voice has been heard," he said. "It would have been visually trashing the area to put something like that there."

About 50 people turned out to a last-ditch protest held at the site, on the corner of Long Lake Avenue and School Road, outside the Dayrooms furniture store.

O2 and Vodafone took their fight to get a new mast in Tettenhall to the Planning Inspectorate after the planning committee refused permission last year.

£2.1m station scheme on track

WORK to prepare the ground where a £2.1m station will be built near Wolverhampton is on track. Both platforms at Cosford railway station have been demolished.

The rebuild is due to re-open in March. The multi-million pound project was ordered after the number of passengers using the station soared by more than 10,000 – up to 84,988 a year – in just 12 months.

Network Rail said the 1937-built station could not cope with the rising number of visitors using the stop to get to the nearby RAF Cosford base every year. The scheme's project manager Patrick Elson said the work was on schedule for the station to re-open in March – in plenty of time for this year's Cosford air show in June.

"Everything is proceeding to plan with all of the demolition works now being completed for both platforms," he said. "The edge protection scaffolding works, fence protection and access steps has commenced and the piling is due to commence this week."

Lighting and fences at the station will all be replaced, with new access stairs to be installed. The station, which is on the Wolverhampton to Shrewsbury line, will remain closed throughout the rebuild.

Serial shoplifter took charity box from store

A SERIAL shoplifter who went on a crime spree at Co-op stores, including taking a charity box, has been given a suspended prison term.

Shaun Moore targeted stores in Willenhall and Wednesfield, taking items which could then be sold off, magistrates were told. In one of the thefts the 32-year-old, of Marlborough Street, Bloxwich, took a charity box for Women's Aid.

Moore, who has a series of previous other theft convictions, admitted three charges of stealing goods from Co-ops in less than a month at Walsall Magistrates Court last week. Mr Brij Chaudhry, defending, said his client had shown remorse for the thefts, especially in relation to taking money earmarked for charity.

Magistrates sentenced him to four weeks in prison for each offence, suspended for 12 months. Moore was told to pay compensation and court costs of £85.

Putting village on map

Friends of Essington group member Peter Ward with one of the calendars featuring drawings of the village

A CALENDAR featuring a South Staffordshire village will adorn homes across the world. Copies of the Essington almanac have already been snapped up as Christmas presents for relatives living abroad.

Demand is still strong for the 2012 edition. It is the third year running that The Friends Of Essington community group has produced a village calendar.

Member Peter Ward said: "We wanted to do something for the area to highlight its many attractions."

The Friends have so far sold around 300 copies, which this year feature sketches by local artist John Williams of scenes around the village. Essington, with a population of 3,000, is the largest parish in South Staffordshire but the village is one of the smallest with just one pub, The Minerva, and a post office.

Students on the beat

STUDENTS working towards a degree in policing will get hands-on experience of life on the beat thanks to a new deal between the University of Wolverhampton and Warwickshire Police.

Those studying for the BSc (Hons) Policing at the university can now sign up as special constables for the force.

Ch Cons Andy Parker welcomed the new partnership. "This is a very forward thinking idea, offering students first hand experience of policing, while also benefiting the community through their work as volunteer police officers," he said.

Radio steps up charity funds to tune of £18k

A BLACK Country radio station has donated more than £18,000 to help charitable causes across the area. Beacon Radio handed over more than £9,000 each to the mayors of Wolverhampton and Dudley.

The cash was raised from the Walk of the Black Country event in June last year. More than 3,500 fans and listeners walked 10 miles from Himley Hall to the Wolverhampton Racecourse. The event was supported by Beverley Knight, Suzi Perry, Don Goodman and Steve Bull.

A tenth of the funds raised went to the Dudley and Wolverhampton mayors' designated charities. The rest was donated to children's charity Promise Dreams.

Eight men in court facing charges on car key raids

EIGHT men have appeared at Wolverhampton Crown Court in connection with an alleged car key burglary racket involving up to £1 million worth of top-notch vehicles.

Each of the men is accused of conspiracy to burgle and conspiracy to steal cars in the Midlands and Staffordshire last year.

Car key burglary involves thieves breaking into homes to steal the keys of usually high performance vehicles, which are then driven away or sold to order using false numberplates. The charges involve 44 burglaries and attempted burglaries and four thefts of cars.

The defendants are among a total of 19 people facing charges linked to the investigation and will stand trial, probably in April. Of those who appeared three, Paul Ball (21), Alex Bradley (19) and David McTaggart (24) all of no fixed address were remanded in custody.

Reece Griffiths (18), of Stanley Road, Oxley; Ben Jones (18), from Sydenham Road, East Park; Arron Thomas (22), of Goodyear Avenue, Low Hill; Dwayne Webley (25), of Millington Road, Fallings Park, and Simon Brookes (20) from Greencroft, Wednesfield, were all bailed.

Help tips for saving on house fuel bills

HOUSEHOLDERS looking for ways to save money on fuel bills can get help from South Staffordshire Citizens Advice Bureau.

The bureau will be manning information stands at Sainsbury's Stores in Perton today (Thurs).

Visitors will be able to chat to an adviser and pick up leaflets with tips and advice on cutting fuel bills.

Practical

South Staffs Citizens Advice Bureau has offices in Wombourne, Perton, Cheslyn Hay, Kinver and Codsall and can offer practical advice and help during Big Energy Week which runs until Saturday (21).

CAB manager Cathy Barlow said: "More and more people are coming to us for advice on how to spend less on their fuel bills."

Big Energy Week is an advice campaign co-ordinated by Citizens Advice to help consumers spend less on heating. A new website – www.bigenergyweek.org.uk – is full of tips on how to cut your energy bills.

Pub footballers pull in cash aid

STAFF footballers from a Wolverhampton town centre pub helped raise £354,437 for children's cancer charity Clic Sargent.

The Moon Under Water in Lichfield Street reached the final of the charity football tournament last year at Goals Star City in Birmingham. A total of 408 Wetherspoon's teams competed.

Elderly Mini a maxi task for classic car restorers

Stuart with the engine

Quentin Willson

MOST mechanics and vintage car restorers can carry out their work without too much scrutiny.

But family-run business Derek's Mini Centre in Willenhall is currently working on a project they know will be observed by a well-known expert.

The Ashmore Lake Way workshop is in the process of restoring a speedwell blue 1959 Mini for former Top Gear presenter Quentin Willson.

The business, run by Derek Birks, aged 65, and his twin sons, Stuart and Andrew, 35, has been chosen by the TV motoring aficionado to restore the Mini to perfect condition.

Standard

Stuart said: "Quentin is a friend of a friend through a parts shop. He knows of our work and it sort of arose from that, and we are well-known for doing a good job.

"He came down and looked at what we do and he was happy. He bought the Mini off ebay, and it's a basket case – we have changed every panel we can think of. It's an awful lot of work that's going into it and he has left us to it."

Stuart said eight weeks of work had been done on the bodywork and engine, and the shell of the car would soon be acid-dipped to get rid of remaining rust and strip the paint. After that the team will get to work restoring it to a standard 1959 spec.

Caring sports college is on the right track

THE Coseley School, a Specialist Sports College, maintains its popularity and continues to establish itself among the top 10 per cent of similar schools across the country.

The school has celebrated yet another fantastic achievement recently being placed in the top 125 of most improved schools nationally, (2007-2011).

This very significant achievement reflects the hard work, dedication and commitment from staff, students, parents and governors.

High quality enthusiastic teaching is of paramount importance in improving students' learning and achievements. This, supported by an inspiring and varied curriculum, has resulted in a dramatic rise in our standards. The quality of relationships between staff and students is a top priority and one of the keys to our continued success. High aspirations and expectations have contributed to the excellent progress made by our students of all abilities.

Students have a positive attitude to learning and are proud of their school. Many students will have benefited from early examination entry and successfully gained GCSE's by the time they reach the end of Year 10.

The strong tutor system ensures students receive the appropriate care and guidance, and we are extremely proud that at the last Ofsted inspection The Coseley School was graded outstanding for its care and support of students.

Ofsted inspectors reported:

- Coseley is an improving school, with good leadership
- Behaviour is good
- The school has improved in all aspects of its provision to ensure Coseley students make good progress
- Care, guidance and support of its students is outstanding
- The school enables high aspirations
- Students make a strong contribution to the school and wider community.

Young voice – Sophie Carter, the school representative on the Dudley Youth Parliament

Coseley has strong links with partner primary schools and has worked with a number of them offering enrichment activities and promoting excellent transition to ensure a smooth transfer when students begin school.Student and parental involvement is actively encouraged.

The school is proud to be a community school, working hard to enable students and the local community to benefit from the many opportunities on offer. We are celebrating the success of many of our students this year in particular four year 11 dancers will be performing in the opening ceremony of the 2012 Olympics and a year 10 student is celebrating achieving the Dudley Youth Award for bravery and courage.

Choosing which school to send your child to is one of the most important decisions a parent will face, knowing your child is taught in a safe, caring environment by highly skilled specialist teachers is why many parents choose Coseley for their child.

Ofstead inspectors said behaviour was good and praised the care and support of its students

Step up to challenge and be a darts 'Hotty'

DARTS fans have the chance to take on four top players and raise cash for charity at a Wolverhampton pub.

Current World Master Champion Scotty 'Too Hotty' Waites will step up to the oche with former World Cup winner Tony 'Silverback' O'Shea, England player Daryl Fitton and former World darts trophy champ Gary Robson at the Cleveland Arms in Willenhall Road, Stowheath tonight (Thurs).

Doors open at 7pm and tickets cost £10 each or four for £35. Proceeds will go to Compton Hospice and Birmingham Children's Hospital. For details ring 01902 451021.

Meningitis alert after three pupils are affected

PARENTS are being reminded to be on the lookout for signs of meningitis in their children after a small number of cases were reported in the West Midlands.

Three youngsters displayed symptoms of the disease at Wodensfield Primary School in Wednesfield, Wolverhampton. Another child in the city also contracted meningitis in the minor outbreak.

All have fully recovered since but health chiefs in the region are reminding parents what to look out for in children who are struck down with meningitis.

Ros Jervis, consultant in public health for Wolverhampton City PCT, said: "It's important to point out that despite a few cases in Wolverhampton of late, it's nothing for parents to panic about."

Rash

There were 49 cases of probable meningitis among children and adults across Sandwell, Dudley, Wolverhampton and Walsall in the last 12 months.

The symptons can include a combination of the following: Headaches; stiffness of neck; fever; vomiting; confusion; sore eyes; back and joint pain; purple/red spots on the skin which don't disappear when pressed with a clear glass and drowsiness and loss of appetite, specifically in babies and toddlers.

Parents should consult the family GP; call NHS Direct on 0845 4647 or call The Meningitis Trust's 24-hour nurse-led helpline on 0800 0281828. If the rash doesn't disappear after being pressed with a glass, seek immediate medical attention.

Crafty way to keep the youngsters entertained

A PROGRAMME of holiday craft workshops to keep children in Wolverhampton occupied throughout half-term next month has been unveiled.

The events, at the Bilston Craft Gallery in Mount Pleasant, Bilston, are open to anyone aged between five and 12.

On Valentine's Day, youngsters will be able to decorate a Valentine photo frame with roses, lovebirds and hearts using various textured papers and fabrics. Sessions will be held at 10.30am-noon and from 1.30-3pm.

Sign

On February 15, children can learn embroidery techniques to create a handmade sign for their bedroom door. Workshops will be held from 10.30am-noon, and from 1.30-3pm.

On February 16, between 10.15am-12.15pm or 1.30-3pm, children can design and make their own textured clay tile.

Obese bodies a weighty problem for mortuaries

HOSPITALS in the West Midlands are increasingly being forced to spend money on extra equipment in their mortuaries to cope with obese bodies.

The news comes after it emerged a £4.6 million mortuary has been built in Gloucester to handle corpses weighing up to 50 stone.

Admissions for patients whose primary cause was obesity in Wolverhampton, Walsall, Dudley, Sandwell and South Staffordshire and parts of Birmingham almost quadrupled from 121 in 2004/05 to 473 in 2009/10. New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton's mortuary accommodate up to four "oversized bodies".

Storage

Sandwell and West Birmingham NHS Trust is now spending £150,000 on the mortuary at City Hospital. This project includes fridges for obese bodies.

It has also emerged that Mid-Staffordshire NHS Trust spent £13,000 in 2008 on adjustments to its mortuary to accommodate larger bodies including a new hoist. Health chiefs at Walsall Manor Hospital have had an extra-wide body fridge installed.

Walsall Manor Hospital also has a wider post-mortem table to accommodate deceased obese people and an extra additional storage facility for larger beds.

Hotel £1.5m revamp due

BUILDERS and contractors have moved in at a landmark hotel in Wolverhampton as part of a £1.5 million improvement plan to save the building.

Major renovation works are due to start at the Grade II listed Ramada Park Hall Hotel in Goldthorn Hill over the coming weeks, including a £200,000 revamp of the leisure club and spa and almost £500,000 to be spent landscaping the gardens.

Tuning up for festival

Pupils at Villiers Primary School, Bilston preparing for a dance festival

YOUNGSTERS are preparing for a dance festival at their school nect week.

Children at Villiers Primary in Bilston will be performing routines for parents and special guests starting on January 23. All 640 children at the Prouds Lane school will be taking part. Headteacher Sally Lanni said: "The dance festival is fantastic. There is always a lovely atmosphere."

Talks on plan for schools merger

A SIX-WEEK consultation into the merging of two schools in Willenhall has been launched.

Wolverhampton City Council wants to close Stow Heath Junior School, judged inadequate by Ofsted, sending pupils to better performing Stow Heath Infant School.

Under the proposals, the infant school in Vaughan Road, Portobello, would change into a primary school.

Education bosses at the city council decided to merge the two schools after Ofsted inspectors judged the junior school as inadequate following a visit in March last year.

Improve

It was also given a notice to improve. If the plans are agreed, Stow Heath Junior School would close on the August 31 this year.

All pupils on roll would automatically transfer to the new combined primary school on September 1.

The period of consultation runs until February 19. To comment on proposals write to Mrs K Newey, Education Manager, Wolverhampton City Council, Poplar House, Pendeford Campus, Marsh Lane, Fordhouses, Wolverhampton, WV10 6SE.

Grand effort as young go for theatre role

Audition time and youngster take to the stage to get the chance to impress and land a role in The King and I

TALENTED youngsters took to the stage to audition for a part in The King and I at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre which will be performed in the city in March.

Around 140 boys and girls did their best to impress choreographer Debbie Norris. They each took their turn to sing songs from the smash-hit musical and perform dance routines on the stage.

Thirty-two children, aged between five and 14, will be given parts in the show, which is being staged by Curve Theatre Leicester.

Vicky Price, from the Grand, said she was very impressed by the talent on display.

"We had around 130 youngsters come down to audition," she said.

"They have been singing and moving about on the stage."

One of the boys hoping to land a part in the musical was eight-year-old Harry Jones.

Harry, who is a pupil at St Nicholas CofE First School in Codsall and a member of Central Youth Theatre, said: "I've always loved performing.

"I think I've got a good chance of getting through the auditions."

The King and I is being performed at the Grand from March 27 to 31.

Village fury at bus fares rise

HITTING bus passengers with higher fares is wrong when there have been so many complaints, a South Staffordshire councillor claims.

Residents in Essington are among hundreds of bus passengers in the West Midlands forced to pay more. People wanting to get into Cannock or Wolverhampton from Essington on the Arriva 68 service are now having to pay £2.20 instead of £1.80 for a single journey and £4.40 instead of £3.60 for a day return.

Arriva has previously blamed rises on inflation. District and parish councillor David Clifft is in talks with transport chiefs at Staffordshire County Council because the local authority pays a travel subsidiary for residents using buses.

"I have been inundated with phone calls from residents complaining about the hike in the cost of travel in the village" he said. "All this comes on the back of the constant complaints about Arriva's 68 service. The service is often late, with some services failing to turn up.

"I have received complaints of passengers being forced off the bus halfway into their journey by drivers because they are running late and need to turn the bus around to make the return journey."

Arriva spokesman Keith Myatt said: "Following the concerns raised by Councillor Clifft specifically, Arriva Midlands will commit to reviewing the intermediate prices on this service.

He said passengers should inform Arriva of dates, times and routes so that it can investigate complaints.

London – capital place to visit but ditch the car

So much to see. . . . including the imposing Houses of Parliament (above) and (right) for a close-up of where our MPs make their decisions book a trip to the House of Commons

A cruise along the Thames is a real treat where you can see the sights along the way including the London Eye

Relax on a coach and see the sights without having to battle the traffic

LONDON is a capital place to visit but there's one thing you don't want to take with you – the car.

Driving along those busy streets is no fun so let the coach do the work while you sit back and enjoy the sights – and there's plenty of them.

With all the special coach deals around a theatre break including the return journey, time for shopping and a show can work out just a few pounds dearer than the normal cost of the theatre ticket and what a way to beat those post Christmas blues.

Like so many people I am not used to being without the four wheels but I must say going by coach made a wonderful change and probably saved a fortune on petrol costs.

We stayed at the handily-placed Hilton Metropole in Edgware Road within walking distance of Marylebone rail station and tube and not too far from the shopping mecca, Oxford Street. As well as a ground floor lounge bar the four-star hotel has a beautiful bar on the 25th floor with fantastic views over the city.

Cruise

You could visit London numerous times and never run out of places to see. Hop back on to the coach and head off to the Houses of Parliament. A visit to the Commons is fascinating and you can see where your MP spends his or her time. It does look surprisingly smaller than when you see it on the TV.

Most trips will allow you some spare time for sightseeing or shopping or stopping for a bite to eat or a coffee.

Instead of just going out for a meal why not combine it with a cruise down the Thames. City Cruises' showboats offer the best of all worlds, three-course meal and entertainment that wouldn't be out of place in a top show. The benefit of being on the coach means that you can have a guided tour, pointing out all the best sights and the courier can give you the history and stories about them, the sort of tit bits that you may not be able to read on any website or in a travel guide.

It also means that you can actually have good look at the sights instead of glimpsing them while you are driving along trying to dodge the many cyclists in the city.

Jewels

Next day off to the Tower of London and a glimpse of those famous crown jewels and a chance to discover the history of a royal palace, an armoury and a powerful fortress.

And for a jewel in the London pub scene check out the historic Anchor pub by the river in Southwark. A timbered pub, it may look small from the outside but it is a maze rooms.

On to Greenwich, the place to be this year with the Olympics as the equestrian events will be held there. There is a special clock at the Royal Observatory counting down the days to the start of the Olympics. Walk across to the National Maritime museum and the World Heritage site.

And while you are in London this is a MUST. Make sure you book into one of the many fantastic shows that are on offer at the array of theatres. London remains one of the most popular destinations for coach tours and if you are wanting to book a show this is probably one of the most cost-effective ways to combine a tour with shopping and a show.

As the coach firm can normally book up show tickets at discount prices and sort out hotel deals, it can work out far more affordable to do it this way then book separately and have to sort out and pay for your travel and overnight stay if you plan to make a weekend of it.

And such trips are not confined to London, check out deals with the coach companies and you will find an endless list of trips on offer, both in this country and overseas.

Coach tourism is one of the UK's biggest travel sectors. More than seven million people are expected to join the trend to holidaying in the UK by taking a coach tour. And moving out of the big cities going by coach is the best way to see dramatic scenery and rolling countryside whether it be the Peak District, Yorkshire Dales or the Scottish Highlands.

The new coaches now cost upwards of £250,000 and feature reclining seats and air conditioning. The on-board facilities often include DVD screens and even kitchens where the operators can rustle you up a drink or snack.

Coach passengers can start their tour near to home with a local pick-up point. So put those car keys away and relax on a coach.

Village signs aims to put brake on speeding drivers

NEW measures will be introduced to try to put the brakes on speeding drivers in Coven. Solar-powered signs that indicate the motorists' speeds are to be installed on a busy road through Coven. It is hoped this will help stop people speeding along 30mph School Lane.

The road is near to a nursery, playing fields and retirement bungalows. South Staffordshire district Councillor Ivor Clay said: "It is a fairly straight road and people get up to all sorts of speeds. There are also a couple of nasty corners. The danger is that a child using the playing fields or someone from one of the bungalows who is trying to catch a bus could be knocked down.

"We've had a lot of complaints about this so we need to do something before it is too late. These signs have proved to be successful elsewhere."

Andy Worley, from the Lilliput Day Nursery, on School Lane, welcomed the move. He said: "It's not before time. We do trips with the children up to the local school and letterbox and there are often cars and lorries doing up to 50mph."

School Lane is the main road running through Coven. It leads to the main Stafford Road, which runs to Wolverhampton and Stafford.

Hygiene charges accused in court

A MAN has appeared in court accused of contravening food hygiene regulations at a Wolverhampton takeaway.

Saied Yourdkhani, aged 39, of Shenstone Avenue, Stourbridge, is facing three charges of failing to comply with a hygiene improvement notice at Oregano on Coalway Road, Penn.

He also faces two charges of selling food past the sell-by date and one of contravening an improvement notice to ensure the electrical system was inspected.

Yourdkhani appeared before Wolverhampton magistrates last week. The charges are alleged to have been committed between November 2010 and January 2011. The case has been adjour-ned until next Wednesday (25) so an interpreter can attend court. No plea has been entered.

Club is alive to the sound of youngsters

YOUNGSTERS have the chance to audition for a part in The Sound of Music at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre. South Staffs Musical Theatre Company is looking for young actors to fill the roles of the Von Trapp family singers in the October show.

Auditions for people aged 8-18 will be held on February 25. The adult auditions to join the main company are on February 27 at Whitmore Reans Conservative Club in Wolverhampton from 7.30pm."Register at www. grandtheatre.co.uk and for details email nortonaj@hotmail.co.uk

Museum grounded for spring clean

The annual spring clean gets underway at Royal Air Force Museum Cosford

RAF Museum Cosford has been closed to the public as a massive spring clean went on behind the scenes.

It was feather dusters to the ready as a team of specialist cleaners moved in for five days to make sure all the museum's exhibits were spick and span.

The museum, near Albrighton, closed last week for the five-day spring clean.

Alex Medhurst, RAF Museum Cosford general manager, said: "We do these jobs all in one go, and this is the quietest time of the year."

The museum will be open again to visitors from Saturday, at 10am.

University in £300k spotlight on science

EXPERTS at the University of Wolverhampton are developing new technology to discover how science works by filtering huge amounts of information from the web.

Academics from the university are participating in a £300,000 project with universities in Canada and the United States. The project will investigate changes in science over time to find out how successful new areas of research evolve.

In particular, it will find out where the experts come from who are able to solve new and critical problems in science. The Wolverhampton team will develop computer software to filter the web to discover trends in science.

The project will run for two years until January 2014. Participants also include the University of Indiana and the University of Quebec at Montreal.

First class! Outstanding report for village school

STAFF and pupils at a Wolverhampton primary are celebrating being top-class after Ofsted rated the school as outstanding.

Perton Sandown First headteacher Elizabeth Threlkeld said everyone at the school was "delighted".

Ofsted inspectors visited the school at the start of December but have only just released the results of their findings. Ofsted rated it as good, with outstanding features.

Mrs Threlkeld said: "We are thrilled with our outstanding judgment. Praise must go to the tremendous efforts of a strong team including pupils, staff and parents. This is a school that pushes the boundaries."

Ofsted's lead inspector Doris Bell says in a report: "The school provides an outstanding quality of education for its pupils.

Progress

"Despite the many changes in staffing, good and, in some respects, excellent leadership and management have ensured that all pupils in Years 1 to 4, including those with special educational needs and/or disabilities, and those from minority ethnic groups, make outstanding progress.

"The school's successes in addressing issues from the previous inspection and in sustaining high standards in the rest of the school have been excellent."

Headteacher Elizabeth Threlkeld celebates an outstanding Ofsted report with pupils and staff. She is also joined by local MP Gavin Williamson, left, and deputy headteacher Tom Wright

Horseriding school launches website

A HORSE riding school in Wolverhampton which specialises in teaching disadvantaged youngsters has set up its own website as it prepares for the arrival of a new pony.

Horse Heaven 4U, based in Yew Tree Lane, Tettenhall, relies heavily on donations and now has its own website www.spanglefish.com/horseheaven. The school, is appealing for donations of sheds or fencing panels to build more stables.

Scores of dog owners fined over pet fouling

SCORES of dog owners across the region are being fined for allowing their pets to foul in public places but some authorities are cracking down on the problem harder than others.

by Adam Burling

In Wolverhampton, Dudley and Sandwell, more than 150 people have been issued fixed penalty notices in recent months after being caught letting their dogs mess in public.

But neither Walsall or South Staffordshire Council handed out any fines during the course of last year.

Council chiefs in those areas say that, instead of immediately fining a person, they will issue a warning or, if there is a persistent problem in one location, they will put up anti-fouling signs.

Tough

Dudley insists the problem needs tough action and have warned that dog owners could end up in court. There were 50 fines of £50 handed out across the borough in 2010/11 and 31 since April 1 last year.

Sandwell Council issued 111 fixed penalty notices, while Wolverhampton City Council fined 14 people.

Councillor David Stanley, environment boss in Dudley, said: "Recent court prosecutions and fines should send a clear warning to dog owners that they must clear up after their pets.

"We will not tolerate this kind of anti-social behaviour anywhere in the borough and will not hesitate to take a court prosecution where appropriate."

South Staffordshire Council spokesman Jamie Angus said: "We feel education is important and we undertake regular patrols, talking to dog owners and handing out collection bags.

Councillor Zahid Ali, Walsall Council's communities boss, said: "We will also seize stray dogs and step up patrols where appropriate."

Panto just the ticket

Luke Bennett as the cat and Lindsey Grant as Dick Whittington in preparation for the panto

TICKETS have been flying out of the theatre for the latest production by Harlequin Pantos.

Dick Whittington will run at Perton Civic Centre in Church Road from January 24-28 – but three dates have already sold out, with more than 1,000 people already booked to see the show.

Front of house manager Richard Bourne said the company was "very pleased" with how the sales had gone. "Over the years we have seen it get bigger and bigger and it's very popular now," said Mr Bourne, 52, of Seisdon.

"We are all very much looking forward to this year's show – tickets are in limited supply now."

Let us prey! Falcon centre swoops in

A NEW falconry centre will open at a vineyard in South Staffordshire in March. The venture is at Halfpenny Green Vineyards, Bobbington.

It will feature about 18 birds of prey. A butterfly tunnel will also be created.

Martin Vickers, owner of the 26-acre Tom Lane site, said it was an "extremely exciting" prospect. He said: "Although we are letting out the land to a local breeder, it will be very much part of the vineyards. There has been so much interest in the falconry centre since we unveiled our plans. We are very excited to see it finally open."

Work to build the aviaries has started on land that used to house a garden centre, which has closed. An indoor flying centre will also be built for days when the weather is not suitable for outdoor flying.

The falconry centre will be open to the public some time in March and run by Bridgnorth bird breeder Karl Law.

Mr Law will also be introducing walking tours, featuring the birds, for visitors. Mr Vickers said when the falconry centre is introduced some birds will be tethered around the site, while the remainder will be in the aviaries.

He added: "Karl has been here several times to do flying demonstrations so we know him well.

The development is expected to cost up to £60,000. Visitor numbers at the vineyards were up by 20 per cent last year compared to 2010.

So important that you pace yourself

LAST week we introduced the Action Heart five mile Heart Run. Determined athletes and fun-runners/beginners are being invited to take up the challenge which takes place on Sunday, February 26.

Supported by the Chronicle and Dudley NHS Primary Care Trusts, we will be publishing a tried and tested training schedule so first time joggers and runners can train for and complete the five miles.

Last week we outlined the first week's training programme. If you missed the first week's training or if you did not manage to get started, probably due to the adverse weather conditions, then don't worry it is not too late to begin.

Weather

Remember our previous advice; get approval from your doctor if you have not been keeping fit previously; warm up before each session and, just as important, warm down afterwards.

It is important that you keep going but do not push yourself, resolve to finish each session even if you have to walk part of the way.

If you are planning to follow the training schedule and would like to let us know how you are coping then please call Action Heart on 01384 292233 or email running@actionheart.com In this way we can publish views and mark the progress of athletes.

Training Schedule Week 2

Monday: REST
Tues: 10 minute jog
Wednesday: 6 minute jog
Thursday: REST
Friday: 8 minute jog
Saturday: REST
Sunday: 1 mile jog/walk

Wonderful Experience

Townswomen in briefs encounter

BLACK COUNTRY SOCIETY

THE Christmas meeting of the Kingswinford branch was held on December 14 when we welcomed The New Dimensional Experience Choir from Kidderminster.

It was a most enjoyable evening with traditional and modern carols interspersed with reading, monologues and soloists.

The Bold Gendarmes duet was much applauded.

The conductor, Mr John Quelch, added humour to the evening when he joked with choir and audience. The evening concluded with a lady choir member leading us with enthusiasm in the Twelve Days of Christmas.

There was in interval when mince pies and wine were enjoyed by choir and audience. A jolly evening to remember with humour and also conveying the message of Christmas to us all.

CHASETOWN WI

THE last meeting of 2011 was our Christmas party. held in the Old Mining College, and we all provided festive refreshment.

Jayne, our treasurer had made up a truly splendid raffle. There were many prizes, the star prize being a Christmas hamper. After eating as much as we could manage we sang carols.

We missed our usual Christmas keyboard player, Terry, he was unable to be with us due to ill health.

Left, Sandra Paget and Floss Dickinson displaying undies for sale at the January meeting and, right, Floss Dickinson auctioning items, assisted by Julia Willett

BROWNHILLS TOWNSWOMEN'S GUILD

THE January meeting at the Memorial Hall was well attended, with 33 members, and we were pleased to welcome two visitors, Val Woolley and Kate Jergen.

The committee reported on some of our activities. Pauline organised a Christmas lunch at the Chase Inn which was very good and attended by 15 guild members.

Karen Da Casto arranged a trip to the Pantomime at the Grand Theatre Wolverhampton to see Snow White. Everyone enjoyed this show, particularly the fun of the Grumbleweeds.

On February 13 the speaker will be Jim Wall, from Bloxwich Metal Detecting Club.

To celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the Queen in June our meeting takes the form of a street party as realistic as we can make it.

After a cuppa and a chat we held an auction run by Floss Dickinson. This created much hilarity with some cheeky 25p bids and Floss's undoubted jocular selling approach. A healthy £90-plus was raised for guild funds.

Aid trust's moving photos

HEDNESFORD 'A' TWG

JANUARY 9's meeting was opened by our chairwoman, Mrs Doreen Archer, who wished everyone a Happy New Year.

The speakers were from International Aid Trust who have charity shops in our area. Moving "before and after" photographs showed the many projects funded by the shops. These included orphanages and hospitals mostly in eastern Europe.

Other help is offered in the UK. Practical assistance is given to things like women's refuges, single parents, the homeless and youth work. The next outing will be to to The Grand Theatre on February 8 to see Sister Act.

On February 15, the lunch club meal will be at Taylors, in Cannock. The lunch club is meeting a week because some members are at a Hear our Voice conference in Coventry on February 22 with the topic of "caring for the elderly in hospitals".

Arena for popular plays and well-kept secrets

POPULAR plays and a feast of small scale theatre are in store for visitors to Wolverhampton's Arena Theatre. The venue will also welcome theatre and film legend Steven Berkoff.

Venue spokesman Andrew Ridal said: "The forthcoming season at the Arena includes some well-known plays including Nick Horby's football-crazy play Fever Pitch.

"There will also be a production of Love's Labours Lost, direct from the International Shakespeare Festival at the Globe Theatre.

"There will be a double-bill of Harold Pinter plays, The Dumb Waiter and The Lover; the biographical I, Bertolt Brecht and a semi-biographical comedy from Wolverhampton's own Foursight Theatre about Hollywood legends Bette Davies and Joan Croward.

Iconic

"There will also be a production of the play that hit the headlines in 2007 for featuring a then-naked Daniel Radcliffe: Peter Schaffer's psychological thriller Equus.

"Additionally, there will be Steven Berkoff's adaptation of Franz Kafka's The Trial. It is Steven Berkoff performing his own masterclass in evil, Shakespeare's Villains, however, that will headline the season."

Berkoff is one of the iconic figures of British theatre and has carved out an enduring career as writer, director, actor, social and political commentator.

He is best known for a number of his famous roles in such films as A Clockwork Orange, Octopussy, Beverly Hills Cop, Rambo II, War And Remembrance and The Krays, among others.

Mr Ridal added: "It's his work in theatre that has built him a formidable reputation: shortlisted for Lawrence Olivier Awards, Winner of Fringe First Awards and London Evening Standard Awards."

Mr Ridal added that as well as the better-known plays at the Arena there would be plenty of brilliant small scale theatre. Mr Ridal said: "The Arena Theatre does that better than anyone else in the West Midlands, providing a diverse and packed programme of top quality theatre that you will probably never heard of.

"Whether you're looking for a cheap night out at the theatre – if you buy tickets for two or more shows at the same time, tickets are usually £5 each – or want to see a master at close quarters, we've something for everyone."

The Arena's forthcoming programme will include All Gleed Up tonight and tomorrow, 52 on January 19 and 20 and An Instinct For Kindness on January 26. An Instinct For Kindness features the story of Chris Larner, who accompanied his chronically ill ex-wife to Switzerland's Dignitas clinic. He came home with an empty wheelchair and a story to tell.

Mr Ridal added: "This moving, bittersweet show reflects on the circumstances, morality and humanity surrounding the journey.

"In a candid, poignant and sometimes comic performance, Chris explores both the profound personal implications and the wider ethical issues of assisted dying."

New wave bands to sweep in 30 years on

THREE of the biggest British 'new wave' bands of 30 years ago are coming back to Birmingham O2 Academy, and two of them will be celebrating their breakthrough albums.

First up on February 17 are Scottish guitar rockers Big Country, who start their 30th anniversary celebrations by performing their 1983 debut album in its entirety at the O2 Academy on the Friday as part of a 13-date UK tour.

The re-release of The Crossing next month, which included hit single In A Big Country, will be followed by a new studio album.

Original

The band is now fronted by ex Alarm singer Mike Peters, following original singer and guitarist Stuart Adamson's suicide in 2001.

Another top Scottish band, Simple Minds, will be performing songs from their first four albums as breakthrough album New Gold Dream reaches its 30th anniversary. Singer Jim Kerr and co will be in concert at the Bristol Street venue on February 24.

Thirty five years on from their debut Rattus Norvegicus, The Stranglers – including three original members - mark their 17th studio album Giants with a gig at the O2 Academy on Saturday, March 10.

Kicking off comic tour in the city

Patrick Monahan

A RISING star of the UK comedy scene, Patrick Monahan is kicking off his UK tour with two West Midlands dates.

He is due at Wolverhampto's Slade Rooms on Tuesday, February 7, and at Birmingham Mac, in Cannon Hill Park, the following day. Also at the Slade Rooms is TV magician and comic Pete Firman, from The Magicians on March 28.

Max appeal as Boyce back from valleys

WELSH icon Max Boyce brings his stories, songs and rugby anecdotes from the valleys to Birmingham Town Hall on Saturday, February 18.

There will no doubt be a welcoming cry of 'oggy oggy oggy' when the veteran entertainer, a stalwart of the comedy scene since the 1970s, brings his 2012 tour to the city.

The former coal miner is a national institution in his homeland and no doubt will be attracting expatriate Welsh folk and rugby fans for his Town Hall date.

He has been touring the world for 30 years and can still boast the first and only comedy album to hit the top of the chart with his multi-million selling Doctors Papers.

Tickets cost £25. Call 0121 780 333 or go to www.thsh.co.uk website.

Davidson stands up to be counted

COMEDIAN Jim Davidson is bouncing back from the failure of his hard-hitting play about the clash between old and new comedy, Stand Up And Be Counted, by returning to comedy gigging.

Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre was due to stage his play last year but the production was scrapped before its tour reached the city. Davidson will be back to tread the boards at the Lichfield Street theatre on Sunday, March 18

Picturesque – number 2 Brewers Lodge, Patshull, Burnhill Green, is set around eight miles to the west of Wolverhampton city centre

Character cottage in rural setting

A SEMI-DETACHED cottage of considerable character and enjoying a lovely rural setting adjoining farmland and the grounds of Patshull Park is for sale, based on offers around £289,950.

The property – 2 Brewers Lodge, Patshull, Burnhill Green – is around eight miles to the west of Wolverhampton city centre and well placed for local amenities in the nearby villages of Pattingham and Albrighton which are some two and three miles distant respectively.

The accommodation includes a bay-fronted sitting room, dining hall, spacious breakfast kitchen and informal dining area, conservatory, ground floor bathroom and two first floor bedrooms, one with en suite shower room.

Outside is a gated courtyard with double-width garage and additional carport, and to the rear a large mature landscaped garden boasting many attractive features.

Beams

On the ground floor the dining hall is 12ft 5in by 9ft 6in with exposed beams and built-in display cabinet, while the sitting room – 17ft 3in by 13ft 11in – has a brick feature fireplace with a stove-style gas fire. The breakfast kitchen, 15ft 11in by 14ft 2in and with an informal dining area has a range of fittings comprising floor-based cupboards with laminated work surfaces, inset stainless steel sink, wall-mounted cupboards, bottle rack, larder unit, integrated oven and four-plate hob with extractor canopy and feature original bread oven.

On the first floor bedroom one is 12ft 2in by 9ft 11in, with an en suite shower room with white suite comprising shower cubicle, hand basin and low flush WC. Bedroom two is 9ft 9in by 7ft 8in.

Mighty Mercedes puts the capital E into epic

By Matt Kimberley

THE WORD 'epic' is probably overused these days, and most of the time the context in which it's used lacks gravitas.

Step into the world of the CLS63 AMG, though, and you remember what the word is there for. For a start, it's just about five metres long and, fitted with AMG wheels and body styling, it's a beast.

Yes the saloon boot is huge, and yes it's a practical and safe Mercedes, but there are more than a few exterior touches – cue four exhausts through which the most breath-taking noise escapes – that really get the juices flowing.

The AMG division has always prided itself on making its cars sound incredible.

The 6.2-litre naturally aspirated V8 engine, one of the best-sounding engines ever made and still available in the C63 AMG and SLS AMG, has been replaced by a 5.5-litre twin-turbocharged unit.

It's technically for the sake of emissions and fuel economy, both of which have been improved a lot by the switch, but the bottom line when you tick the option box marked 'AMG Performance Package' is that power stands at 550bhp, along with an incredible 800NM of torque - that's 590lb.ft in old money. As standard the figures are 518bhp and 516lb.ft.

The noise is equally amazing. Inside the car the occupants, up to four people, hear a muted V8 rumble. But anyone outside it – especially behind it – is treated to a thunderously loud, effortlessly deep and gloriously exciting cacophony from the exhausts, punctuated by pops and crackles when the driver lifts off the throttle.

Celebrated

It's less hard-edged than that of the older 6.2, but boy is it still a noise to be celebrated.

The model I tested had been kitted out with an astonishing amount of options, some of which make more sense than others.

The AMG Performance package is great, but expensive at around £6,500, while the paint alone, from the special 'designo' catalogue, costs £4,500. It's lovely, but not that different from standard metallic to untrained eyes.

In fact, this car, which costs more than £80,000 to begin with, had a total of £26,000 worth of extras, taking the final asking price comfortably into six figures.

It's really got to justify those kinds of numbers, so let's start with performance.

If you have a disused airfield handy, the performance is, well, epic. Even if the tarmac is dry, in temperatures around freezing the rear wheels will spin if you push the throttle hard.

Keep it pinned and you'll get violent and relentless acceleration, right up to a point at Autobahn-only speeds where your fear reflexes overtake your willpower, or you hit the 155mph speed limiter.

Inside the cabin it's good news for whoever wrote the cheque, because the build quality and standard of materials is outstanding; thoroughly worthy of an £80,000 car.

Almost infinitely adjustable heated and cooled leather seats are an optional extra well worth going for. As far as luxurious places to sit go, the CLS63 with its leather-trimmed dashboard and suede-covered pillars is up there with the finest. But amid all this desperately desirable luxury, it's still a practical Mercedes. The COMAND multimedia system is among the easiest and most enjoyable to use, even if the menu tabs do look a little dated.

The ride is generally good, given the size of the wheels.

Performers

It doesn't like sharp bumps, such as sunken manhole covers, but at high speed its not inconsiderable weight is controlled really very well. Thankfully the brakes are also top performers.

Leg room for rear passengers is as abundant as they could wish for this side of a long-wheelbase S-Class limousine. It's a thoroughly comfortable environment to relax in while the lucky driver enjoys him or herself. The boot will swallow four people's luggage greedily, whether it's golf clubs or suitcases. The thing is, with such a well-equipped car packed with options as this one is, any shortfalls are obvious.

The standard stereo unit is good, but it somehow lacks the punch to match the visual and accelerative impacts the car makes. Better to upgrade to the Harman Kardon system, which with a few tweaks among the settings offers top-drawer sound quality.

Everything about the CLS63 AMG is epic.

Test ride report by Kevin Ash

AFTER you've had a ride on the new ER-6n you understand why Kawasaki thoroughly renewed the bike for 2012.

It's not because there was much wrong with the old model, as there wasn't – indeed, the middleweight all-rounder was already one of the top choices for buyers in this class. It's just that the new one is a whole lot better.

Almost everything about the bike is new, most evident initially in the look, which while clearly related to the old now has a more aggressive and purposeful stance with cleaner and more consistent lines. The incorporation of the rear shock into the line of the frame on the bike's right side is retained, but the frame itself along with the swingarm are both new, featuring a new doubled-up tube design which adds interest to the bike's style.

The exhaust in the modern style lives compact and tucked up beneath the engine, centralising mass in the name of agility and balance, but this, a slightly reduced compression ratio and revisions to the engine mapping are the only changes to affect power.

The consequence is a broader spread of torque up to 7,000rpm and a slightly lower peak.

There's a very noticeable and pleasing growl coming up from beneath the fuel tank when you're stretching the motor's ability, matched by reassuring stability across the speed range and agility enough to make sinuous roads a pleasure rather than hard work. Direction changes are fast and the bike holds its line accurately.

The suspension is significantly softer than on the old model, a move made possible by increasing the amount of wheel travel, and while it does affect the bike's poise a little when you're really pushing it hard, especially in rapid direction changes, the improvement in ride quality and comfort are well worth it. The bike is also better behaved on bumpy roads, dealing with potholes more convincingly than before.

It's a compact machine though, too small really for taller riders. I'm 6'3" and felt like I was dwarfing the bike, although this is psychological as much as real as a 400 mile round trip in poor conditions was dealt with in surprising comfort. Certainly the seat is perfectly acceptable for long distances, and the engine's thriftiness with fuel means the bike has a decent range too. An Eco indicator in the dash comes on when the revs are below 6,000rpm and the throttle isn't opened too wide, which allows you to cruise at 80mph without extinguishing it. Do this and you're rewarded with 54mpg, and much faster is uncomfortable anyway without a fairing to break up the windblast. Ride more carefully still and that can be eased up to 60mpg, although harder use drops the figures to the low 40s to the gallon. With 3.5 gallons (16 litres) in the tank it'll stretch to 190 miles between refills, not bad for a bike in this class.

Aluminium

The much improved dash lets you know your economy accurately and how many miles you have remaining, a touch of class on a sub-£6,000 middleweight. It's a high quality machine throughout in fact: the chain adjusters are chunky machined aluminium blocks, plastic shrouds protect the forks from stone chips and the fit and finish generally are exceptionally good.self.

Verdict: The ER-6n is great fun and very capable, as it's always been, but now looks better than before and adds a welcome extra degree of comfort. Its ace though is the engine, which has quietly moved to the top of its class for its breadth of power and seductive sound and feel.

Plus: Engine, comfort, quality, suspension

Minus: Too compact for some, no ABS option

Our rating: HHHH

Exemption law helps dealer and customers

EUROPEAN Union competition law exists to prevent anti-competitive practices and abuse of companys' dominant market positions.

But, in recognition of the unique technical complexity of their products, the motor industry has – since 1995 – enjoyed a so called 'block exemption' from some aspects of competition law.

Under the Motor Vehicle Block Exemption Regulations (BER), the industry was allowed to continue to operate a franchised dealer network, controlling who would sell their products and where they could do so – a selective and exclusive distribution network in the jargon. This wasn't complete exemption though and the BER included clauses protecting consumer rights regarding service and repair.

Instructions

The BER were introduced in 1995 and then updated at the end of 2002. One specific requirement of the Regulations was that technical data and repair instructions should be made available to the independent motor trade (for which manufacturers could make a reasonable charge) so that car owners were not obliged to take their car to a franchised dealer for service or repair. This also ensured that data was available to motoring organisations like the AA to enable us to fix cars at the roadside. By the time the BER were next due for renewal in 2010, the new car exhaust emissions regulations had been agreed for 'Euro 5' and 'Euro 6'.

These set the limits for a number of exhaust-born toxins, including particulate matter (soot) but also specified that manufacturers must make technical data and repair information available to the independent trade.

The EU initially took the view that with access to technical information covered by Euro 5 and 6 Regulations and the motor industry generally working well, there was no need to renew BER.

The right to repair

UNFORTUNATELY the Euro 5 and 6 Regulations only guaranteed the availability of technical data and repair information for cars first registered after 2009.

There would be no guarantee that the independent trade and motoring organisations could continue to access repair information and technical data for vehicles registered before 2009 if the BER were allowed to lapse.

The independent 'Right to Repair Campaign' eventually succeeded in having the Block Exemption Regulations renewed and improved. This ensured that technical data and workshop procedures remained available.

By securing access to technical and repair information the Block Exemption Regulation helps to:

- Keep repair costs down
- Provide security for independent garages and specialists such as auto-electricians, air conditioning specialists and body repairers
- Ensure you don't have to wait too long or travel too far for servicing or repairs

Servicing a new car

CHANGES to the BER in 2002 included clauses intended to increase choice when it comes to servicing of a new car. You cannot be obliged for an example as a condition of warranty, to have your car serviced by a franchised dealer.

Other changes at that time permitted multi-brand showrooms and no longer obliged dealers to combine sales and service/repair – though most have continued to do so.

The work can be carried out by an independent garage as long as that garage uses manufacturer approved parts and correctly follows the manufacturer's service schedule. Independent garages generally have much lower overheads than franchised dealers so their hourly labour rate is also cheaper.

Although you are free to have your car serviced at whichever garage you like – and benefit from the cost savings – you can't then expect much help and goodwill from the manufacturer if the car develops a major fault just after the warranty has expired. Manufacturers often cite lack of loyalty on the customer's part as the reason for their decision not assist with the cost of a post-warranty repair.

The Suzuki Grand Vitara SZ-T is a true off-roader packed with stylish features and 4X4 versatility

Special Suzuki Grand Vitara is limited to 500

SUZUKI'S latest Special Edition Grand Vitara model, SZ-T, which goes on sale this week.

SZ-T is based on the popular five door 1.9DDiS model and offers a unique enhanced specification with just 500 cars available.

The SZ-T model is available for £22,315 including metallic paint and has a comprehensive list of standard equipment including new design front grille, new design 18-inch alloy wheels, unique contrasting seat fabric, Silver coloured roof rails and bonnet side vents, built in turn signal lamps for the door mirrors and, for this Special Edition, a tailgate mounted spare wheel. Cruise Control and keyless entry and start are also included.

The Euro 5 emissions 1.9-litre DDiS engine has a power output of 129PS with torque of 300Nm from just 2,000rpm offering strong flexibility when overtaking or driving off road.

Emissions

In combined cycle driving, the DDiS model returns 41.5mpg with emissions of 179g/km.

Suzuki launched its first Vitara 24 years ago, creating the world's first compact SUV and tapping into a new market for vehicles that deliver true off-road performance with responsive, fun-to-drive on-road performance. Since then the stylish and versatile SUV has steadily evolved and kept pace with growing demand for good-looking and versatile 4x4s that are as rewarding on the open road as they are motoring off the beaten track. Grand Vitara remains a true off roader with its switchable low/high ratio Four Wheel Drive system.

SZ-T is available in five metallic colours: Quasar Grey, Silky Silver, Blueish Black Pearl, Phoenix Red Pearl and Nocturne Blue Pearl.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

HIGHWAYS AGENCY

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 – SECTION 14(1)(a) THE A449 TRUNK ROAD (FOUR ASHES TO M54 JUNCTION 2) (TEMPORARY RESTRICTION AND PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2012

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport intends to make an Order on lengths of the A449 Trunk Road between Four Ashes and Coven Heath in the County of Staffordshire, to allow resurfacing work to be carried out.

The effect of the Order will be to -

1) impose a 40 miles per hour speed restriction on -
   (a) the southbound carriageway of the A449 from its junction with Station Drive, Four Ashes to a point 350 metres north of its roundabout junction with the M54 at Junction 2; and
   (b) the northbound carriageway of the A449 from a point 350 metres north of its roundabout junction with the M54 at Junction 2 to its southern roundabout junction with Brewood Road at Coven (Brewood Roundabout);
2) close the northbound and southbound carriageways of the A449 from its roundabout junction with the M54 at Junction 2 to its junction with Brewood Roundabout;
3) close the layby adjacent to –
   (a) the northbound carriageway of the A449 approximately 277 metres north of its junction with the M54 roundabout;
   (b) the northbound carriageway of the A449 approximately 1150 metres north of its junction with the M54 roundabout; and
   (c) the southbound carriageway of the A449 approximately 244 metres south of its junction with Brinsford Lane;
4) close the gap in the central reservation of the A449 opposite Ball Lane; and
5) prohibit vehicles from entering or leaving any side road situated on the length of A449 described in 2) above.

Work will be carried out 24 hours a day with carriageway closures overnight between 20:00 hours and 06:00 hours Monday to Friday and at weekend between 20:00 hours Friday through to 06:00 hours on Monday and is expected to start on Friday 10 February 2012 and continue for approximately seven weeks. The Order will come into force on 3 February 2012. The speed limit, layby and gap closures will be in place for 24 hours a day during this period.

Vehicles being used by the special forces will be exempt from the speed restriction and emergency services will be exempt from the speed restrictions, closures and prohibitions. Vehicles being used in connection with the works will be exempt from the closures and prohibitions. Access to property will be maintained at all times.

Diversion routes via M54 Junction 3, A41, A5 and A449 and vice versa will be well signed.

For further information, please contact David Steventon on 0121 678 8723.

Staffordshire County Council

STAFFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL
ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED)
ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991

Dark Lane, Featherstone
Diversion of Vehicular Traffic

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Staffordshire County Council, on 27 December 2011, made an Order the effect of which is to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of Dark Lane, Featherstone for a distance of approximately 250 metres east of the A460 Cannock Road unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works. Access for frontages and emergency services will be available via the alternative route. Pedestrian access will be maintained.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via A460 Cannock Road, Hilton Lane, Dark Lane and vice versa.

DUE TO UNFORSEEN CIRCUMSTANCES THE WORKS WHICH STARTED ON TUESDAY 03 JANUARY 2012 AND WERE DUE TO BE COMPLETED BY SATURDAY 14 JANUARY 2012 NOW HAVE AN ANTICIPATED END DATE OF WEDNESDAY 29 FEBRUARY 2012

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the drainage works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

It's three and easy as Clarke nets treble

BILSTON romped to a 7-1 home win over Wolverhampton United in the West Midlands Division One.

It took just six minutes to open the scoring when Kieron Clarke was brought down in the box and he convert the spot-kick.

Four minutes later Courtney Shaw doubled the lead.

United rallied slightly as the half wore on and only a fine clearance from under the bar from Chad McCormack denied them a goal.

That let-off seemed to stir Bilston again and just before the break Salmon rose high to meet a free-kick and power his header into the net for a 3-0 half-time lead.

Clarke netted his second within two minutes of the restart, Damien Jarrett made it 5-0 and Salmon got the sixth.

Clarke then wrapped up his hat-trick with five minutes to go.

United grabbed a consolation with virtually the final kick of the game.

■ The West Midlands Premier League matches between Wolverhampton Casuals and Bewdley and Bustleholme and Wolverhampton Sporting Community fell victim to the weather.

Wulfs win with just 10

TEN-MAN AFC Wulfrunians defied the odds to beat Lye Town 1-0 at home in the West Midlands Premier League.

Danny Crudgington's 33rd-minute goal proved to be the winner despite Wulfs going down to 10 men as early as the 11th minute when Dave Asbury was dismissed for a rash challenge.

Rather than affecting the home side, the dismissal galvanised them and the goal they' had been threatening finally came in the 33rd minute when Crudgington dispossessed his man on halfway and surged forward before firing low past keeper Stephen Jackson.

Fit and firing for semi-final

Wolverhampton 32 Newcastle 13

THIRTEEN was not unlucky for Wolverhampton as their winning streak progressed to one more than a dozen on the trot, ensuring they are fit and ready for this week's Staffs Cup semi-final at Handsworth.

The first team produced a fitting tribute to former club chairman John Phelps who sadly passed away this week after a long illness.

The 32-13 bonus point victory over promotion rivals Newcastle puts clear daylight between second and third place in the Midlands 3 West (North) League and keeps Wolverhampton's promotion push going strong. From their previous league encounter, a narrow five point loss in a high scoring affair, Wolves knew they were in for a tough game but in truth found it to be a fairly straightforward win.

The first half was all Wolverhampton. The first try came from captain and free-scoring prop Ian Harley, the second came from a powerful run from Ben Barnes, knocking defenders over he as cut through the attempted tackles.

Next up was Stuart Andrews, who, after receiving the ball 20 metres out, seemed to be heading up a dead end, but following quick pirouette, a shimmy and a swerve, he ghosted under the posts untouched.

Barnes converted two tries and kicked a penalty, but Newcastle responded with two penalties and a try froma a tap penalty, making it 22-13 at half-time.

The second half was less free flowing. Greg Humphreyson barrelled over, converted by Barnes, who also fired over a penalty to put the game out of Newcastle's reach.

Chairman leads applause as Wolves earn their spurs

WOLVES chairman Steve Morgan led the applause at the final whistle as Mick McCarthy's Wolves prised out a priceless point at White Hart Lane.

Morgan had had his say on the club's efforts so far just two days before Saturday's match. How pleased he must have been with the reply.

For if Wolves' results in the first half of the season have been "unacceptable", then this stirring performance was surely what the chairman wants to see.

Tottenham 1 Wolves 1

On a freezing afternoon, the considerable feeling from the stands probably didn't match the warmth in the heart of McCarthy, who knew his side had earned a bonus point in what has to be regarded as another battle for survival.

It says everything about the commitment demanded by the manager that his players produced such a resolute performance despite just two wins in their previous 18 league games, writes Tim Nash.

But as well as all those dogged qualities displayed so abundantly, they were also grateful recipients of two rare slices of fortune.

For after coming off very much the worse over Nenad Milijas' red card and Frank Lampard's tackle, replays proved the ball came off Dave Edwards for the corner Steven Fletcher scored from and that Kevin Foley just played Emmanuel Adebayor onside for the 'goal' Spurs had disallowed for offside just before half-time. But they surely deserved their luck.

And while Wolves didn't pull off the shock victory they earned at Spurs two years ago, they certainly achieved McCarthy's pre-match aim of upsetting the applecart. The valuable point also emphasised something that's been missing from Wolves' play for too long until recently – defensive stability.

It's no coincidence that McCarthy's side have reeled off four successive unbeaten away games since a step up in form of Wayne Hennessey and Roger Johnson.

Both remained at the top of their game.

And Johnson, whose header was saved in the build-up to Fletcher's goal, was as big a component in that as anyone.

Not only did he remain in Adebayor's personal space all afternoon, he made a perfectly-timed sliding tackle to nick the ball off Rafael van der Vaart as he threatened to burst through. As an Arsenal man on Tottenham territory, Emmanuel Frimpong's temperament isn't likely to be as tested anywhere as severely as it was on Saturday, and McCarthy, who wisely took him off perhaps before he was sent off, knows he has to manage the 19-year-old carefully.

Not so long ago, Wolves couldn't function without Kevin Doyle. Now, with their former talisman on the bench, they surely can't operate without Fletcher, whose workrate is up there with Doyle and whose touch is so silky that there's always the chance to build the play off him. And he's a goalscorer.

As he proved at Anfield, Old Trafford and the Emirates, Fletcher isn't only a man for the big occasion, but he also only needs one chance to score.

His ninth of the season was the first Spurs had conceded in 276 minutes and only their third in nine games, and came from Wolves' first attack, prodding home after Brad Friedel parried Johnson's towering far-post header from a Matt Jarvis corner.

But Fletcher's effort wasn't Wolves' only first-half chance as Edwards sliced horribly wide from Jarvis' inviting cross.

After the break, Frimpong was denied the chance of making it 2-0 when his superb volley was clawed away by Friedel and within two minutes, Spurs levelled when Modric's 20-yard drive squeezed under Hennessey for the keeper's one mistake.

Backed by a suddenly frenzied home support, Spurs attempted to lay siege to the visitors' goal, but they couldn't force home their advantage.

Hennessey blocked from Adebayor then Lennon in the same move before the keeper's legs denied substitute Jermain Defoe. Spurs' fire had been extinguished, however, and Wolves went home with their precious point.

Steven Fletcher reacts with delight after putting Wolves ahead at White Hart Lane

Try-feast as score tops the 100 mark

WOLVERHAMPTON seconds did a ton with a 105-0 home win over Willenhall thirds.

The victory will leave them in confident mood for next week's home friendly against Stourport-on-Severn.

Wolverhampton stuttered at first, and a close-fought game seemed on until the first try by Robert Wilkinson sparked the side into life and they took a stranglehold, scoring virtually at will.

A further 14 tries were added within the hour, all but one converted by Gav Dungan. The only exception was Dan Smith who drop-kicked a conversion of one of his own tries.

Among the scorers were Jason Griffiths (3), Gav Dungan (3), Jimmy Whitehouse (2), Dan Smith (2) and Rob Wilkinson (2).

The third XV had a rest in preparation for next Saturday's friendly home fixture against Old Yardlians.

The cold weather put a halt to Sunday fixtures for the minis and juniors. The teams look forward to weekend Staffs League home matches with the U13s and U16s against Willenhall, the U14s versus Burton and the U15s welcoming Lichfield.

It's Halil at the double

WEDNESFIELD went nap with a 5-2 home win over Cradley in the West Midlands Premier League.

The first goal came when Anton Johns controlled a Thomas Horton free-kick on his chest and volleyed in from eight yards.

Cradley levelled in the 39th minute when Michael Woolman headed in a Sam Wilkinson cross.

Wednesfield regained the lead just before half-time when Bekir Halil lofted the ball into the empty net after Matt Jones had dashed to the edge of the area to clear.

The hosts scored again at the start of the second half as Tyrone Clarke steered a Lee Butler corner home.

Cradley pulled one back in the 79th minute with Edward Flory netting from close range. But a minute later Halil scored from the spot after Johns was fouled by Luke Guy. Paul Sullivan got the fifth.

Ball moves one step closer to crack at title

by Craig Birch

COSELEY boxer Jamie Ball has been lined up for an English title eliminator on West Midlands soil against Birmingham's Nasser Al Harbi.

Promoter Dave Coldwell has won the purse bids to stage the fight and the two light middleweights could clash in Birmingham.

A Coldwell bill at the New Bingley Hall is scheduled for March 16 and the bout could be named chief support.

Ball and Al Harbi will put the zero in their losses column on the line when the undefeated duo meet, with a new English champion set to be crowned later this month. Erick Ochieng and Nick Quigley will go toe-to-toe for the vacant title next week, with the victor to meet the Ball v Al Harbi winner.

That's what the British Boxing Board of Control has decided and Ball, the reigning Midlands champion, believe it's his only way in.

He said: "It will be tough, he's an unbeaten fighter like me and we have come across a lot of the same competition so far.

"At this stage, I have got to progress and I will, once I have got this on my slate, so I have got to take this fight.

"I have no other options, this is my only foot on the title ladder.

"I have got to play with the cards I have been dealt."

It's been a rollercoaster month for Ball after he was lined up for a shock crack at new British champion Brian Rose.

Rose and promoter Frank Maloney agreed to a voluntary defence – but the board and Sky Sports vetoed the proposed bout.

Ball had already turned down a proposed English title fight with Birmingham's Max Maxwell to hold out for Rose. Maxwell has now been picked to face Rose, who he knocked out last year, and Ball knows which one he would rather face.

He said: "In my eyes, Max would have been a harder fight than Rose, he's someone who has never got to where he should have.

"He knocked Rose out, yet Rose comes back to win the English and British titles, that's the madness of boxing.

"My fight with Max fell apart because the board ordered me to have an eliminator," said Ball.

"I am just not getting the opportunities," he added.

League must wait as cup tie gets near

WOLVES Women are hoping not to get frozen out in their bid to be promoted from the Midland Combination.

The cold snap claimed their game at Loughborough on Sunday with the pitch too hard for play.

Wolves still remain on target for promotion and are currently third in the league, five points behind top-placed Stoke City.

Games are piling up – Wolves have four in hand on Stoke – but the league will have to wait as this Sunday sees them take on local rivals Sporting Club Albion in the quarter-finals of the Birmingham County Cup.

The cup is hotly contested and has featured some excellent contests.

Wolves reached the final in 2010, but lost 4-1 to Birmingham City after beating Albion on the way.

Wolves' defender Anna Perks, returning after long-term injury, is looking forward to the encounter.

She said: "It's always a big local derby when we play Albion, and I'm really looking forward to the game.

"It will be tight, but I'm sure it will be entertaining.

"Let's hope plenty of Wolves fans come along to support us, and that we can make it to the semi-final."

The game will be played at Halesowen Town FC, The Grove, Old Hawne Lane, Halesowen, with a 1pm kick-off.

Holliday in for a goal

WOMBOURNE battled back to pick up a valuable West Midlands League Division One point.

They were two down at Wem Town but hit back to claim a 2-2 draw.

The home side took the lead in the 15th minute when a good break down the left culminated in a goal for John Gamble.

Paul Harris had the ball in the Wem net on 26 minutes but was ruled offside.

Five minutes into the second half, Wem doubled their lead when a corner was scrambled in by Christian Oldham.

Wombourne quickly came back and were awarded a penalty three minutes later for a foul on Adam Callinswood, Chris Holliday converting from the spot.

On 58 minutes Wombourne were back level when a corner from Holliday was headed home by Harris.

FLETCHER CAN HIT 15 GOALS – KITES

WOLVES striker Steven Fletcher is being backed to break a 36-year club scoring record. His 10 Premier goals last season put him fifth in the whole of Europe based on minutes on the pitch against goals.

by Tim Nash

His nine strikes this term leave him level with Emmanuel Adebayor and are more than Darren Bent and Jermain Defoe. Now the £7 million club record signing has been backed to score 15 Premier League goals this season after his strike in Saturday's 1-1 draw at Tottenham came in only his 16th appearance in 2011-12. With 17 games left, winger Michael Kightly sees no reason why Fletcher should not reach 15.

That would make him the first Wolves player to do so in the top flight since John Richards' 17 in 1975-76.

"He's a goal machine – I never doubted for a second that it would drop to Fletcher to score on Saturday," said Kightly.

"It was difficult for him up against two great centre-halves on his own, but his workrate was tremendous and he did really well for the team.

"Fifteen goals? Why not? He's a top striker so hopefully we can carry on creating chances for him because I've got no doubt he will put them away."

Last season, Fletcher also became the first since Richards to notch double figures for Wolves in the top flight with his 10 the highest since JR's 13 in 1980-81.

Kightly is aiming to follow fellow winger Matt Jarvis and supply the bullets for Fletcher.

"I've been out for a long time so I want to play as much football as I can," said Kightly. "Hopefully I've shown I'm back to stay now.

"Going to Watford on loan made me really enjoy my football again.

"When I came back from the injury, I wasn't quite enjoying it as much as I wanted to do because I wasn't quite 'at it' with my timing. That was frustrating, but now I feel 100 per cent and I'm looking forward to the games and hopefully I can help us climb the table."

Kightly is hoping he can be like a new signing after completing the full game at White Hart Lane.

"It looks like that," he said. "I haven't played much football over the last few years and I'm keen to stay in the side and keep doing well."

The 25-year-old, who is out of contract in June 2013, admits thoughts of a new deal aren't on his mind at the moment.

Insists

"I've still got 18 months left so I'm in no rush to get anything signed," he said.

"I've loved the club ever since I arrived and hopefully we can stay in the Premier League and push on."

Boss Mick McCarthy insists his talisman Fletcher is a match for any of the top strikers.

McCarthy said: "Fletcher is proving himself to be one of the best in the league, at the moment, and I'm delighted with him. He's one of those who's got it all.

"He's one of those rare commodities who's not only a talented footballer, he scores goals, runs about and makes it hard for defenders by closing people down and blocking things.

"And he will defend the near post. There are not too many of them around."

But McCarthy insisted that there's no transfer interest in Fletcher.

He said: "We were offered £30m by Manchester United – so take that as a 'no.'

"I haven't had any offers for Fletcher and I'm not looking for any."

McCarthy was proud of Saturday's display, after Wolves made it four successive away games unbeaten and one defeat in six.

"It was a really good performance," he said. "We earned everything we got.

"We have been harder to beat in recent weeks. We were tough, determined and well organised. "They had a good spell after their goal but we defended well."

McCarthy, who was linked with Bolton veteran Kevin Davies at the weekend, could bid for another striker after watching Fleetwood's Jamie Vardy in midweek.

He scored twice in a 4-1 win over Barrow to take his tally to 20.

Fleetwood want £1m and have him loaned back to them for the rest of the season.

Steven Fletcher puts Wolves ahead in the draw with Tottenhamat White Hart Lane

Goodrich keeper Hayfield the hero

GOODRICH stayed ahead of Dudley Town in the West Midlands Premier League table as neither side could find a breakthrough.

Dudley substitute Rion Francis-Mills went close to a late winner, but was denied by home keeper Jack Hayfield in the 0-0 draw.

The pitch at Goodrich only just survived an inspection as a cold snap bit but played well, earning it more repute as one of the best surfaces in the division.

The Robins were unlucky not to take the lead when Dreniz Bala drilled a shot over young goalkeeper Hayfield's bar. Dudley had several good chances in the opening 30 minutes with Nikki Faux clearing the bar and Ben Store off-target.

The best chance of the first half though fell to Bala whose ferocious shot brought a save from Hayfield, but this season's joint top goalscorer could only drag the ball wide when the rebound fell back to him.

Goodrich still had their chances as the first half drew to a close. Former Dudley forward Jake Morgan could only spoon the ball over the crossbar after a neat build-up.

The hosts had the upper hand early in the second period and Dudley's keeper James Trevalen pulled off a fine block from Sean Pugh just before the hour mark.

The visitors thought they had the breakthrough on 75 minutes when the impressive Store saw his firm low shot beat Hayfield but then sneak agonisingly past the post.

If Hayfield got lucky with that though, it took a fine piece of keeping to keep out Francis-Mills. The young substitute appeared to have lobbed the Goodrich shot stopper successfully only for Hayfield to stick out a hand to push the ball wide for a corner. Gary Bottomley then cleared off the line from Store.

Big home win

WOLVERHAMPTON hockey firsts made a dominant start to 2012 with an 8-2 home win over Chesterfield.

The thirds went down 3-0 at home to Worcester while the fifths lost 7-4 at home to Barlston Vines.
